Taxes, security Crane's top issues

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Philip Crane (R-Wauconda) has served the northwest suburbs, including western Lake County, for more than 25 years as a member of Congress.

The Wauconda Township resident is seeking another two-year nod from voters in a three-way race on the Nov. 5 ballot. Barrington resident Melissa Bean, the Democrats' candidate and Libertarian Chuck Kelecic of Fox Lake oppose him.

"The feedback from voters has been very positive, not just for myself, but for other candidates seeking re-election. But you never take anything for granted," Crane said.

Crane, one of the most senior members of House of Representatives' Ways and Means Committee, points to free trade as one of his accomplishments and issues he has fought for over the years.

"We have the free trade authority again given to the president after eight years. We are the world's biggest exporters, but the president never had the authority to negotiate. This opens a lot of new doors, and well-paying jobs," Crane said.

He said while there are concerns about the economy, some areas, such as refinancing of homes, remains strong. "Interest rates for refinancing of homes are at their all-time lows of the last 40 years. People are investing conservatively in bonds. The stock market will get back to normal," he said.

The Republicans have a slim majority in the House of Representatives now, and Crane is "guardedly optimistic that we can hold onto that, or may gain a few seats," he said.

This year, Crane gains five townships in McHenry County, including the Johnsburg area.

Taxpayers groups have regularly endorsed Crane. He has won endorsements from many pro-business groups. These include the following: National Federation of Independent Businesses, Americans for Tax Reform has given the Wauconda Congressman a 100 percent voting rating; and American Shareholders Association said that Crane's record, "shows an avid dedication to protect Illinois investors, which is especially critical during this time of declining consumer and investor confidence."

On homeland security, Crane issued this statement following President Bush's address to the United Nations on pending actions against Iraq: "President Bush clearly outlined why Saddam Hussein and his regime are threats to the United States and our allies. As he stated, they are continuing to violate human rights and sidestepping weapons inspections where they and either have or will soon have weapons of mass destruction. I believe the president is moving in the right direction to state his case before our allies on why action is indeed necessary. I urge the U.N. Security Council to consider and pass a resolution as soon as possible that will set inspections in motion."

No pork with Bean, if elected to seat

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Its time for a change in the Illinois 8th Congressional District if Melissa Bean and her supporters have their way.

"It sounds cliché—but its time for a change on a lot of different levels. From investing in education, which is certainly important in the Round Lake area, to protecting seniors on the issues that are important to them from social security to prescription drug benefits—its time for a change," said Bean.

"When average families are paying more in taxes that some of the wealthiest corporations in America—we need change," said Bean.

"Its time for a change when seniors are cutting their pills in half to try and spread them over more days instead of taking the full prescription because they can't afford it," she added.

Bean said that on the issued of education Crane's voting record has been dismal. "He voted to eliminate college loans for 2.2 million students. People need to have access to these loans, especially now that people have lost their college savings (due to the economy)."

On the environment Bean commented, "Phil Crane has never even pretended to have any concern for our environment. He supports drilling for oil in Lake Michigan, our largest drinking water supply."

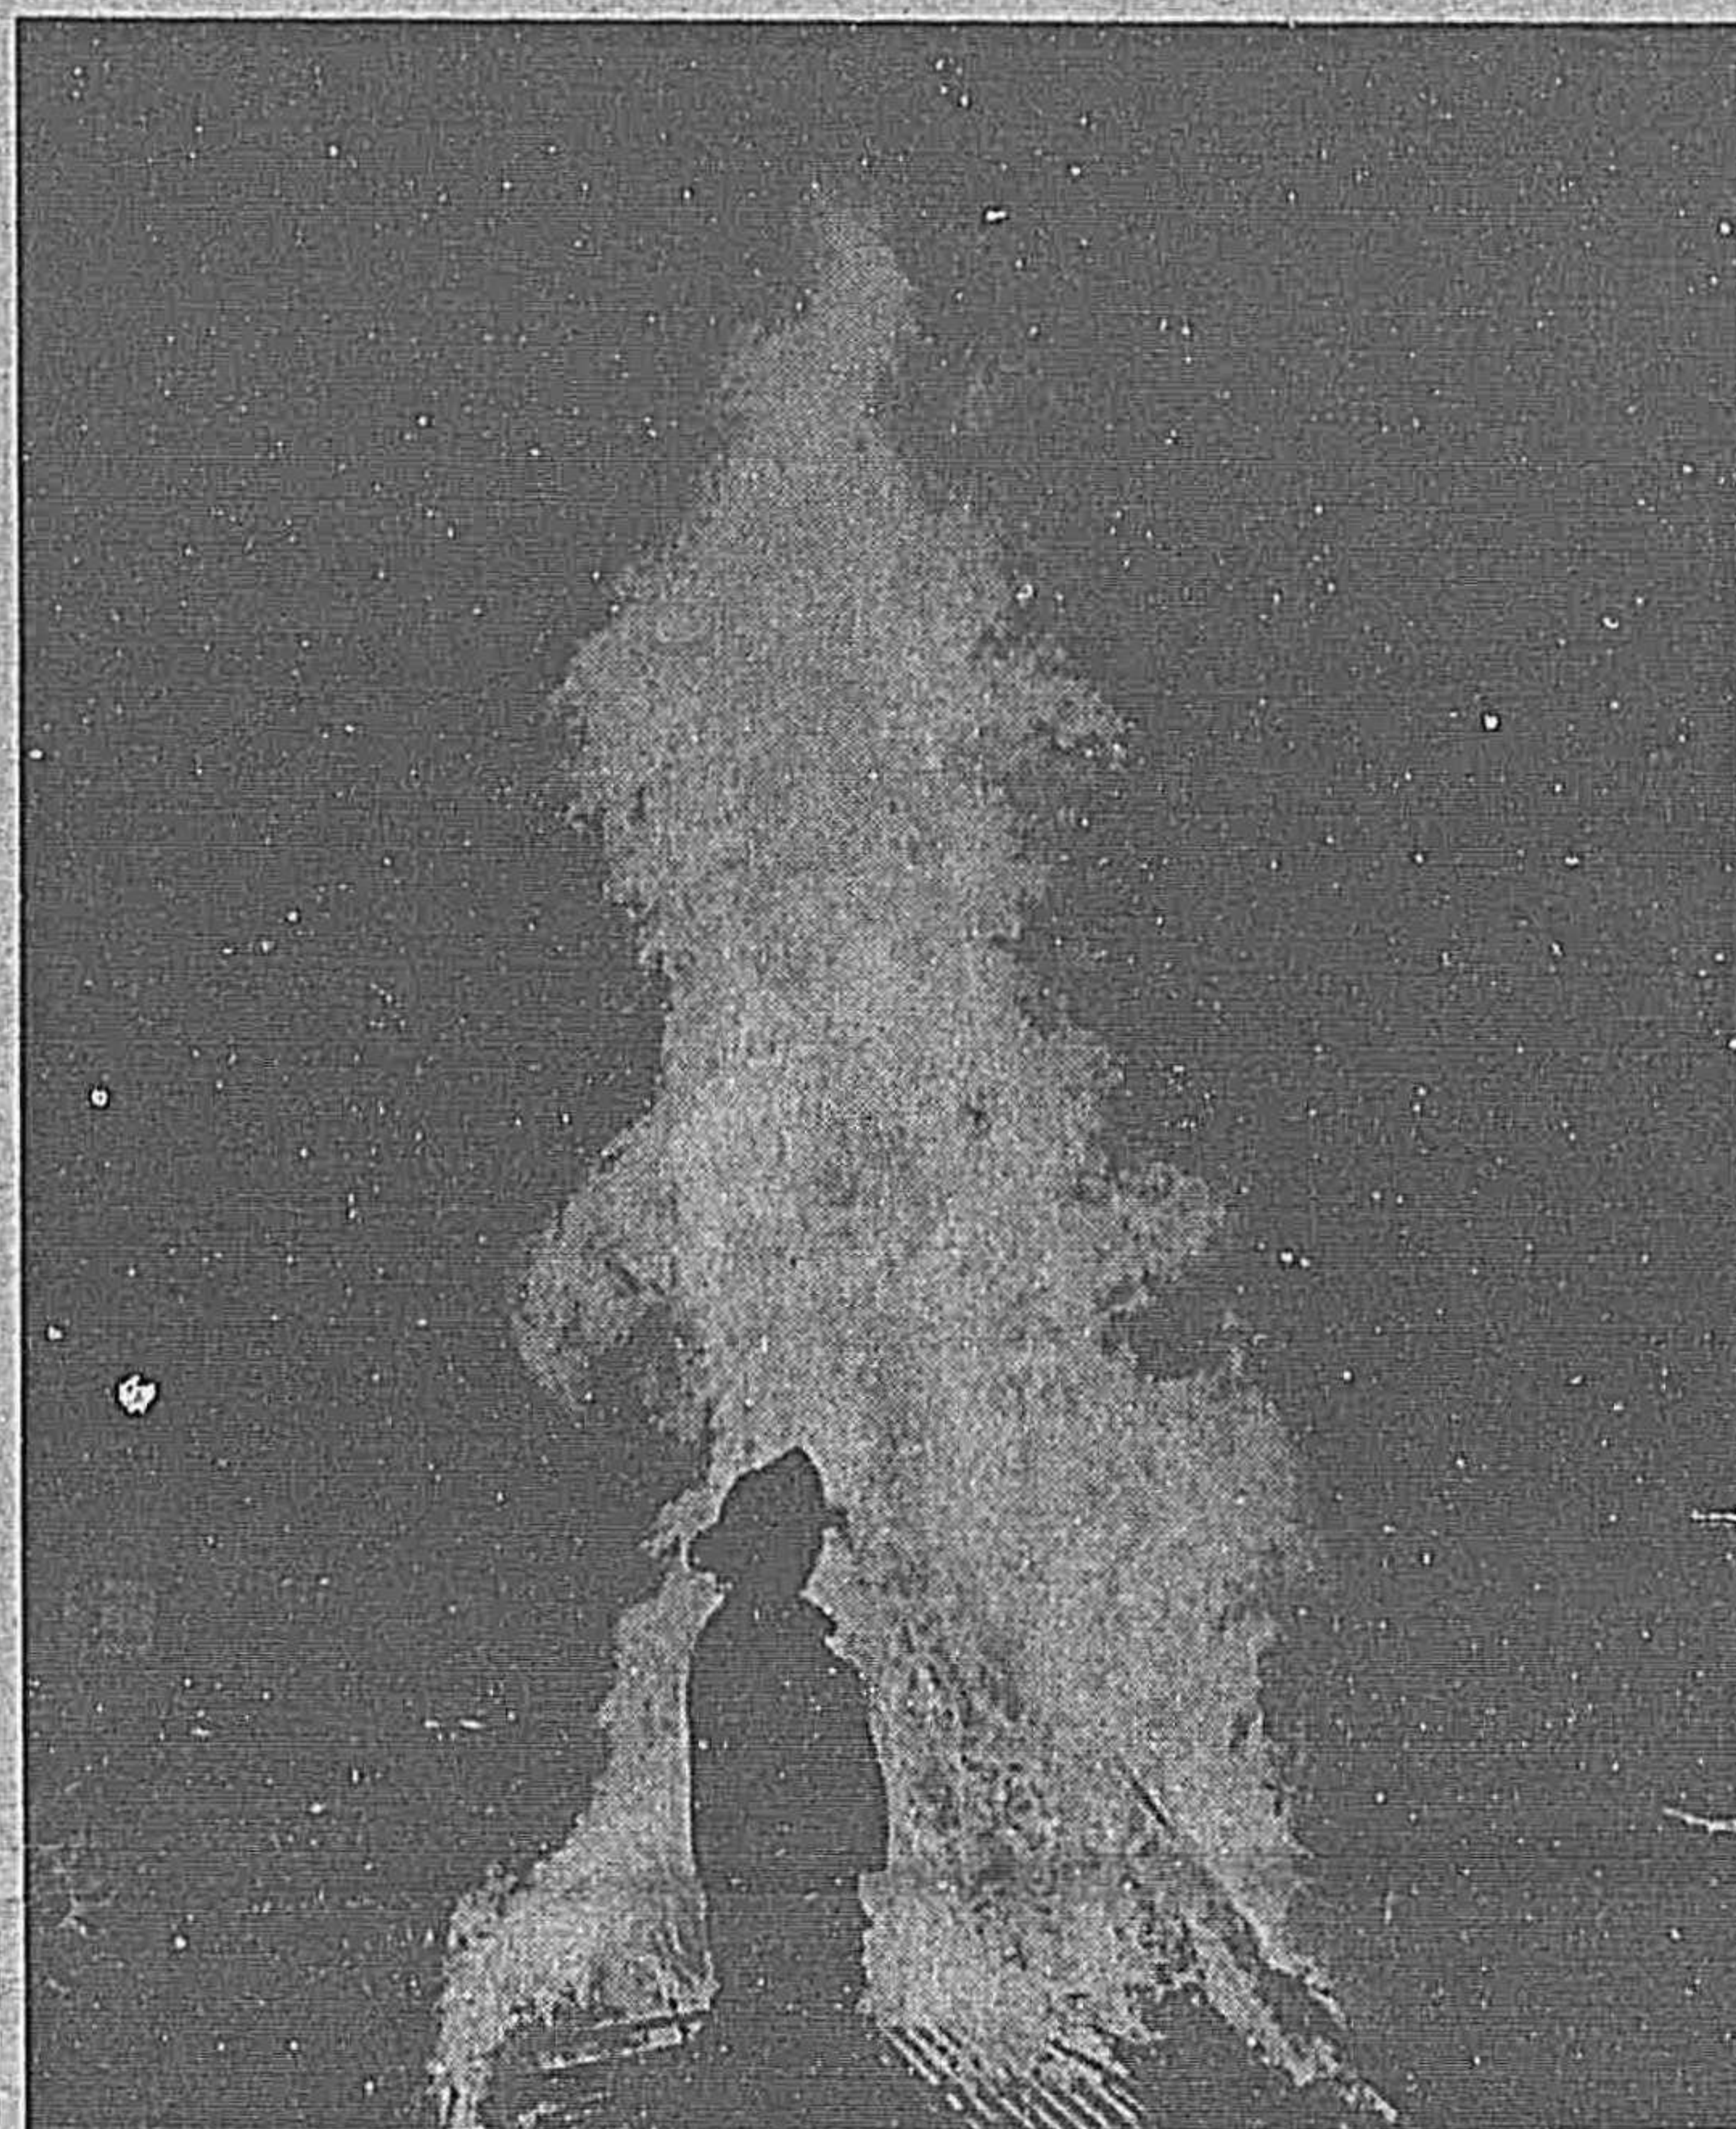

On the issue of Phil Crane saying he has never voted for a tax increase, Bean commented, "That is basically a lie. When he votes against federal funding to support the federal mandates that our school district are held accountable to—we'll guess who he just gave a tax increase to, everybody here, because now we are going to have to pay higher property taxes to support our school districts."

Bean said that according to a poll done by Bennett, Petz and Blementhal, out of Washington D.C., Bean is leading Crane by a margin of 47 percent to 41 percent.

Bean concluded, "I am accessible to people today and I will be accessible when I go to Washington."

Patrick Botterman, Bean's campaign manager commented, "The general consensus we hear at train stations and when we go door to door is that it is time for a change. 'It's not that Crane has done something for me lately, but he has done nothing for me at all.'"

Commissioner's petition makes board uneasy

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Commissioner Bob McCarty saw no favoritism from fellow members of the combined planning and zoning board when he excused himself from the board to make requests for variations for his business property, Lake Shore Storage.

Though Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building for the Village of Antioch, pointed out that the property had been zoned M-1 (Industrial) for the past 25 years, commissioners concerns were largely to protect the surrounding residents.

McCarty is seeking to have property setbacks reduced or eliminated so he can add one building to store snow removal vehicles, and change the size of another proposed building so that it won't need garage doors on the back side of the building but could have access from within.

Village attorney Don Anderson spelled out what criteria must be met to grant a variance. He said the petitioner must show hardship, and that hardship must be something that is not in the control of the petitioner. "This ensures it will not merely serve as a convenience to the applicant."

Commissioner Brad Ipsen said he problems granting the variances to McCarty as he could see no real hardship to McCarty. He added, "There is no guarantee that he'll put the equipment in storage."

McCarty said a special building would have to be built for the "cat" (snow removal vehicle), as it's too tall to fit in one of his regular storage buildings. Of the second variance request to allow for a larger building, McCarty argued that it would benefit the surrounding residents as it would eliminate lights and traffic on the backside of the building that abuts the residential property.

Residents complained about some actions of McCarty, or the contractors he hired to do work for him, during public comment.

Resident George Close, who could not be present at the meeting, sent a correspondence to the board asking it to consider that the near proximity of the business to his home, and the elimination of the setbacks would diminish his property value. He complained about trees

Grass Lake School seeks Ed Fund increase

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Last spring, the small Grass Lake School District 36 was not lucky enough to stave off financial woes with a one-year waiver of the tax cap for the 2002 levy year. The measure would have provided the school with money needed, about $300,000, to keep the school running without having to revert to cuts.

The board of education decided to seek a straight Education Fund increase rather than another tax waiver for the November election.

Supt. James Beveridge said, "We are seeking a $.44 increase from $1.99 to $2.43. A homeowner with a $100,000 home will expect to pay about $130."

To keep the school afloat, about $800,000 in tax anticipation warrants have been issued. This action allows the school to borrow against future property tax revenues.

"It's really robbing Peter to pay Paul," said Beveridge. "Somewhere down the line, we'll have a cash flow problem because of it. This money is outstanding."

Adding to the school's budgetary problems is the loss of grant money from the state. "About 25 grants were eliminated all together," said Beveridge. "The state sees us as a wealthy district because we get $5,200 per student, but of course that isn't the way the money comes in."

Beveridge said quite a few of the schools programs would have to be cut. He added, "We're not even sure exactly how much (state) aid we are going to get."

According to Beveridge, District 36, with an enrollment of about 300 students, hasn't seen an Education Fund increase since 1989.

"Everyone is hurting financially," he said. "There are 542 schools in the state of Illinois that operating in deficit."

JILG students attend camp

By CASSAUNDR KEMP
 JILG Correspondent

Jobs for Illinois Graduates (JILG) program held its annual Leadership Development Conference (LDC) at Camp Algonquin in Algonquin, Ill. Antioch Community High School (ACHS) sent its six elected officers to attend the camp.

During the conference the officers participated in various challenges, which enhanced their leadership, teambuilding, and listening skills. Additionally, each officer attended a workshop designed to train for the duties of individual offices.

During the conference the Northern District elected the following officers to the executive leadership board: Andrew Delehoy, president; Dontrell Bowers, vice president; Domonique Schaffer, secretary; Sylvia Marciniar, treasurer; Cassaundra Kemp, reporter; Lindsey Appelhans, historian; Travis Bull and Heather Kippere, leadership board members. Andrew Delehoy was also elected to the position of Regional President.

All JILG students are members of a youth organization called the Illinois Career Association (ICA). The goals of the organization are to foster leadership, citizenship, and social development, as well as career preparation.

To meet these goals, student leaders guide the members in the creation of a plan of work at the school, district, and regional level that will outline the activities to achieve these objectives. At the LDC, the student officers began developing a plan of work that will be announced at the initiation and installation ceremonies of each school respectively.

There are ninety-one schools that have JILG programs in the state of Illinois. The schools are broken down into regions, and are further broken down into districts. Antioch Community High School ACHS is a member of the Northern Region, and Northern District.

New businesses fulfill 'needs'

By JULIE MURPHY
 Staff Reporter

First among the dictionary definitions of need is "a lack of something wanted or deemed desirable." The new businesses that have cropped up around Antioch cater perfectly to this meaning.

Tammi Pedersen has opened the Pedersen Homestead Company in the house her great-grandparents built in 1923 located on Route 173 east of Route 45. She is the fourth generation of Pedersens to operate a business at this location.

"This is a store of guilty pleasures," she said. "I developed the store based on that I would want to shop here. I carry all the things I like and use, and that I've had a hard time finding."

The hodgepodge of items she carries varies from honey and beeswax candles to finer gardening supplies, gourmet foods and fine linens and jewelry. Pedersen refers to them as vintage, period-style goods.

"I've been doing particularly well with the table linens and Mrs. Meyers cleaning products," said Pedersen. "People love the lavender and lemon verbena scents and come back for more and more of them."

Pedersen carries antique reproductions, but nothing of age.

Village Stitchery will open about mid-October in the former location of Choosy Child and Party and Play (891 Main Street) that had been owned by Barbara Porch, village trustee and executive director of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

"It was hard to sell the store," said Porch. "It's been in our family for 45 years."

Village Stitchery is a dream come true for mother and daughter team of Helen Anderson and Tracy Moffat. The goal is for the pair to become "the area's premier full-service counted cross stitch supply store."

In addition to supplies, the store will offer special and mail order services and individual and group classes.

For those seeking more active pursuits, or for those who have been enjoying too much of Pedersen's gourmet foods, Curves for Women has opened on Toft Street. The workout facility is designed for women of all ages.

What's different about it?

The facility offers an exercise program called Quickfit that is said to provide 90 minutes of workout benefits in 30 minutes. A free tour and figure analysis can be scheduled by calling owner Denise Zirbel at 847-838-9905.

Pumpkins support Cystic Fibrosis

By JULIE MURPHY
 Staff Reporter

The First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBE) has added a Casual Because We Care Day to support finding a cure for cystic fibrosis (CF). Additionally, the bank will be selling pumpkin pin-ups for $1 each through Halloween.

On Oct. 18, employees will donate $2 each to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in exchange for dressing in casual attire. Customers and community members are welcome to make donations to the cause.

"We do the pumpkin pin-up program every year," said Karen Kubin, the bank's marketing director. "It is a great way to help cystic fibrosis, and we decorate our lobby at the same time."

The pumpkins are available to area residents, whether or not they belong to the bank. As with the money raised from the casual day, all of the proceeds go to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Kubin added, "Our employees enjoy letting the customers know about the pumpkins for cystic fibrosis. We like to help."

The genetic disease affects about 30,000 children and adults in the United States today. The symptoms are diverse and vary in severity, and are often confused with recurrent pneumonia or asthma.

For more information about CF, go to the foundation's web site at www.cff.org.

For more information about the pumpkin pin-up program, call Kubin at 838-2265.

Osmond builds rapport

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"If I have any strength, it's that I build rapport with various groups," said State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch), the incumbent candidate in District 61. "I try to get along with people and I'm always open and receptive. I want to sit and listen to the people."

Osmond, who is seeking his third term in office, added that it is this same frame of mind that causes him to look at each individual issue and vote accordingly.

He said, "I have voted against certain bills, not because I'm against what they are seeking in principle, but because of the way a bill is written. The devil is in the detail."

Osmond cited as an example the Patients' Bill of Rights. "I voted for the final version of this, and clearly I am for patients' rights. I didn't vote for earlier versions though, because there were problems with the language. It is important to make sure that these do what they are supposed to do and not something else."

Key issues for Osmond are the economy and the budget in Illinois, transportation, providing appropriate help for the developmentally disabled and education.

"You always have to pay attention to the economy," said Osmond. "We compete daily with Wisconsin, and we need to bring state resources into play. We need more people working."

He said he was happy to have the opportunity to work with Lake

Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo to keep C and F Packing, a meat processing business that supplies meat products for Burger King, Pizza Hut and Johnsonville, in Illinois and create 100 new jobs in the process. "I didn't contribute in a huge way, but I was glad to be able to participate," said Osmond.

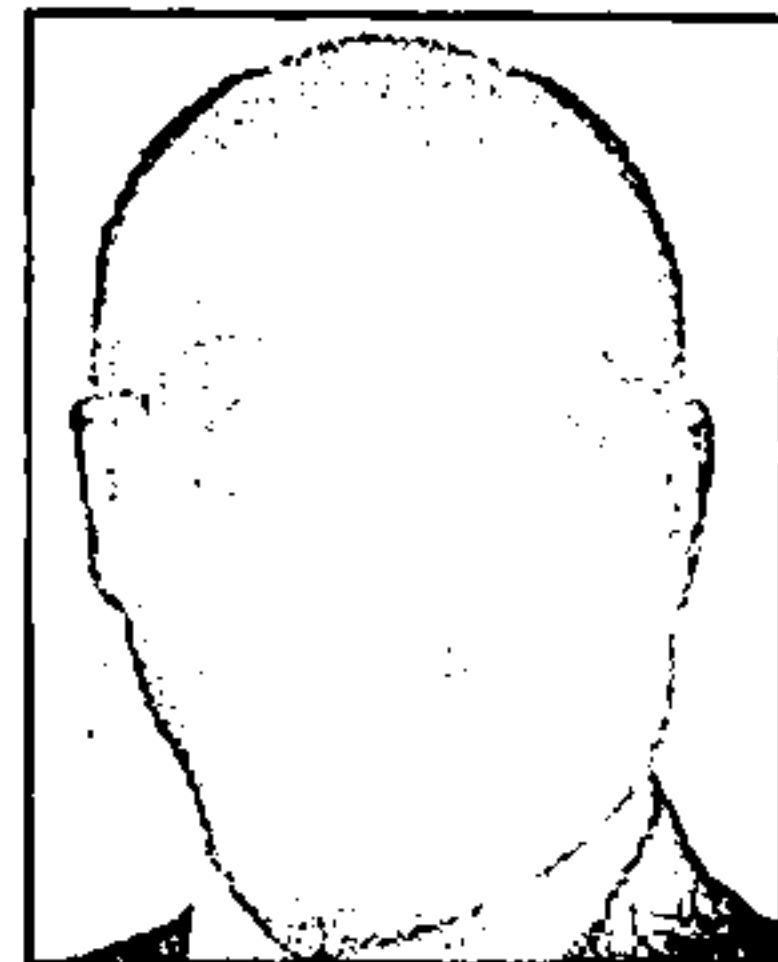

Keeping with jobs, though shifting to the developmentally disabled, Osmond said, "There's a gap out there, yet. We haven't provided the transportation and the jobs that are going to help the developmentally disabled lead the full and rewarding lives they are capable of having."

In terms of transportation, Osmond recognizes the need to improve conditions. He said he has been able to help "fast track" projects such as the intersection of Hunt Club Road and Route 173, but conceded that it's a slow, money dependent process to get things changed.

"It's all about money," he said. "The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) knows where the work needs to be done, and it does the work when it can."

Osmond said he tried to get legislation approved that would raise sales tax for Lake County road improvements. "It never got released out of committee," he said.

Osmond supports the Route 53 expansion, but said the only way he thinks it will get funding is if it's put in as a tollway. "I don't see how else it could happen," he said.

Geo-Karis opposes income tax hike

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

While citing the state's shaky economy as one of the biggest issues in her upcoming bid for re-election, State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis made it clear she opposes increasing income tax as a source of additional revenue.

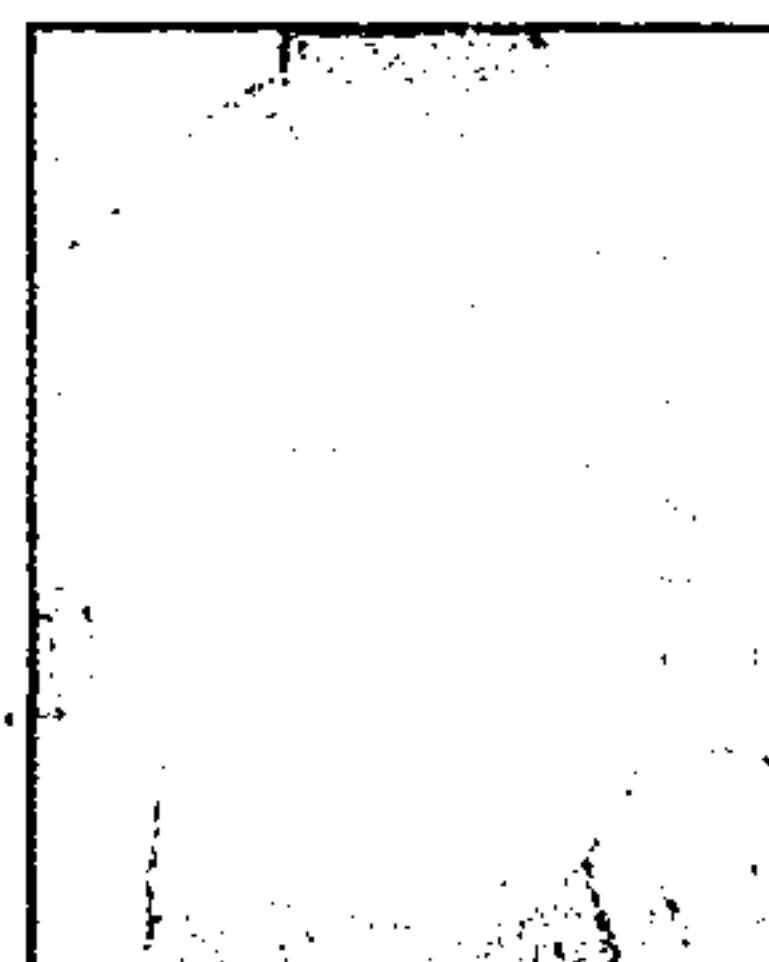

"This affects people's livelihoods," she said. Instead, she has supported increasing gambling and cigarette taxes.

"People can control their own spending in these areas," she noted. A confirmed Republican, the 30-year veteran of state government stands against "tax and spend" policies.

"We have to watch where we are spending our money," she said. "We have seniors and disabled people who need our help, but at the same time, we don't want to tax ourselves out of existence. We have to figure out how we can manage with what we have."

With the state hard-hit in the post-Sept. 11 economic crunch, Geo-Karis has been willing to put her money where her mouth is.

"For me, money isn't everything," she said. "I made money before I ran for office. I don't make money in the legislature."

Geo-Karis

Geo-Karis said she voted against Senate pay raises and joined other legislators in giving back a day's pay in an effort to help control the tight state budget.

"Every effort should be made to cut waste," she said. "If I am telling you to conserve, I should be willing to do the same."

The senator is in favor of incentives to bring new businesses and jobs into the state.

"If tax incentives will help lure companies into the state, it will pay off in the long run," she said.

With about three decades of service in the state government, the octogenarian legislator is still going strong.

She has picked up endorsements from the Illinois Education Association, Township Officials of Illinois, the Political Action Committee of the Lake County Farm Bureau, the Illinois Farm Bureau, the Illinois Committee for Honest Government, the Plumbing and Mechanical Contractors Association of Northern Illinois and the Illinois Restaurant Association.

She has been named 2002 "Outstanding Legislator of the Year" by the Illinois Psychological Association for her support of mental health issues.

Geo-Karis has been a member of the Illinois Senate for the 31st

District since 1979. She was the first woman ever to serve in Senate leadership and has been an Assistant Senate Majority Leader since 1993. Previously she served six years in the House of Representatives.

She was the first Lake County woman ever elected to the Senate and House. The former mayor of Zion is also the first Lake County woman appointed Assistant State's Attorney and elected Justice of the Peace in Lake County, Illinois.

Geo-Karis heads her own law firm in Zion. She is the former municipal attorney for Mundelein, Libertyville Township and Long Grove School District. She presently serves as Vernon Hills village attorney.

Born in Tegeas, Greece in 1918, she was educated in the U.S., attending Northwestern University, and earning her law degree from DePaul University. She served as Lt. Commander with Top Secret Clearance in the U.S. Naval Reserves.

Boy Scouts host dinner

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Boy Scout Troop 92 is hosting its 42nd annual spaghetti dinner on Oct. 20 at the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525. Noodle slurping will take place between noon-7 p.m. either at the lodge, or take-out dinners are available.

Last year the troop served up more than 1,100 dinners. "We always hope more people come," said committee member and advancement chairman Linda Veach. "We're ready for 1,200-1,300 people this year. We try to do a little more each year."

The dinner is a major fundraiser for the scout troop. Five dollars buys an all-you-can-eat meal. Children under the age of 5 years old eat for free.

There will be drawings for prizes

throughout the day.

Troop 92 meets weekly at the Scout House in Antioch, and goes to a variety of different campsites monthly. In addition to the fun activities, the troop takes part in many community service projects. The scouts have been maintaining 50 wood duck boxes at the Chain O'Lakes State Park since 1980. Troop 92 also assists the Northern Illinois Conservation Club with its annual fishing tournament at Channel Lake and helps the Antioch Lion's Club and the Antioch Rescue Squad with the annual chicken barbecue and auction.

According to Veach, the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525 has sponsored the scout troop for more than 45 years. The Moose Lodge is located on west Rte. 173 in Antioch. Tickets are available at the door.

Ryback addresses budget concerns

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Illinois' budget is a chief concern of Glenn Ryback (D-Wadsworth) who hopes to unseat incumbent Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) in the race for state senator in District 31.

"I am not a part of the current Springfield culture that has put the state $2 billion in debt, cut funding to welfare and other social services," said Ryback, who contends that at the same time this was happening "pork projects" and contracts were awarded to special interest groups.

Ryback said that budget cuts need to be made in a targeted manner. "I oppose the concept of across-the-board budget cuts, because some state functions are more critical than others," he said. "I would focus budget reduction efforts within administrative overhead, purchasing orders and programming by state agencies."

He added that he feels he is held to a higher standard of fiscal responsibility as a village trustee than the current state assembly is. "I am held accountable for my actions," he added. "The current members of the state assembly seem to follow the dictates of leaders rather than asking tough questions and demanding greater input in the process."

Ryback said if he is elected that he will bring fresh ideas and a decade of experience in government to the office. He said, "Times have changed during the past 30 years and there is the need for better representation for our district," he said.

He added, "As a member of a local governing board, I know the burden our nation's response to terrorism has placed on local police and fire department budgets. I would like to see a coordinated effort at securing supplemental funding for police and fire department training and personnel budgets."

Ryback said he would like to work to increase communication and cooperation within various units of government in the development of homeland security strategies. He added, "Illinois government must ensure that this is playing a constructive role between local units and federal agencies."

Ryback has lived in Wadsworth for nearly 20 years. He attended both Trinity College and Northern Illinois University working toward degrees in Interpersonal and Group Communication and Business Administration respectively.

Former mayor Don Craft appointed Ryback to the Wadsworth Historical Committee in 1991 and to the village board in 1993. Ryback was elected to the board in 1995 and 1999.

During that time, he served as chair of the public service committee, chair of the ordinance committee, and chair of the road and bridge committee that is responsible for the annual road paving budget and program. He is currently the chair of the planning, zoning and plats committee.

Antioch author autographs new book at Sonshine Bookstore

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch resident, author, educator and clergyman George Sweeting will be signing his new book "The Joys of Successful Aging" at the Sonshine Bookstore located on Orchard Street on Oct. 19 between noon-2 p.m.

"I've seen so many seniors hit 65 years old and be woefully unprepared," said Sweeting. "To age and retire successfully, you have to plan and prepare for it."

In addition to having written 40 books, Sweeting was a pastor, then senior pastor and finally chancellor at the Moody Bible Church in Chicago. He writes regularly for the Moody Magazine and has a daily broadcast, "Climbing Higher," that is heard through 150 radio stations throughout the country.

"I love to write and teach," said Sweeting. "This is about helping seniors realize that they can use their talents to do the things they love to do at this point."

Sweeting said churches and towns should "tap in" and use their seniors. "It's a time when people have the time, and usually the means, to go after what they really want to do."

Is life rushing right by you? Do you desire to spend more time with your children? Where do you find time in a schedule that's already too crowded? Here are a few ideas that will help.

Commit to a meal together

Plan on eating dinner together as a family every day. During dinner turn off the television and radio. Don't answer the phone. Use your answering machine or caller i.d. to find out who is calling and then call them back after dinner.

Treasure your time together at the table. Find out what is going on in each other's life. Keep all conversations positive. Take turns talking. If necessary, use a timer to give each person three minutes to talk uninterrupted. This also teaches everyone else to listen.

Spending time with your children

NEWS-WORTHY

Sharon Westbrook

Work together

There is always plenty of work to do around the house. Why not work with your child, teaching them how to do jobs. The time spent working together can be a great time talking together as well. Regular chores for children teach them to be responsible adults.

Play together

Schedule a family game night once a week. Great family bonding is the result. Have everyone write their choice of a game on a piece of paper and put the choices in a hat. Draw one for the first game to play. Board games work well, as everyone is involved and can interact.

Exercise as a family

Take a walk together. Ride bicycles as a family. Play croquet or volleyball. Rake leaves. Go for a boat ride. The possibilities are endless and the time spent together is beneficial in more ways than one.

Read a bedtime story

Plan on reading a story to your kids before they go to bed. Use it as an incentive to get them to pick up their toys first and then settle down to read a book. What can be greater than cuddling up and reading a story as a family?

Television and movies

Watch television shows with your children. Mute the t.v. during commercials and use that time to discuss what you are watching. Take the opportunity to teach your values to your children.

Plan a movie night once a week as a family. Choose movies with wholesome themes. Check out the library's children's section. Review the movie together.

Family meetings

Hold a family meeting once a month or at least once every few months. Talk about behavior, manners, chores, allowances, family fun times and vacations. Use this time to bring out the positive as well as the negative. Give everyone in the family a chance to speak on each subject.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Save on taxes

Are you tired of paying too much in property taxes? The Planning and Zoning Commission of Antioch has the solution to your problem. Now that they have allowed commercial developers to designate landscaped areas to be zoned agricultural, the door has been open for the "common folk" to reap the benefits. All residents of Antioch should petition the planning and Zoning Commission for zoning changes to their residential lots. All landscaped areas, especially berms, should be rezoned agricultural. In fact, landscape your whole yard and you could only pay residential property tax on just your house. You will save hundreds or even thousands of dollars by paying agricultural property tax on your landscaping.

PETITION

that had been clear cut from the property, and the fact that haven't been replaced and no landscaping has been done.

John Gridley said, "Here's where the trees went (holding up a picture). He had the nerve to cut the trees off of his property and put them on ours. They haven't been moved. We've all been abused. The property doesn't drain; it all runs off onto our property and is our problem."

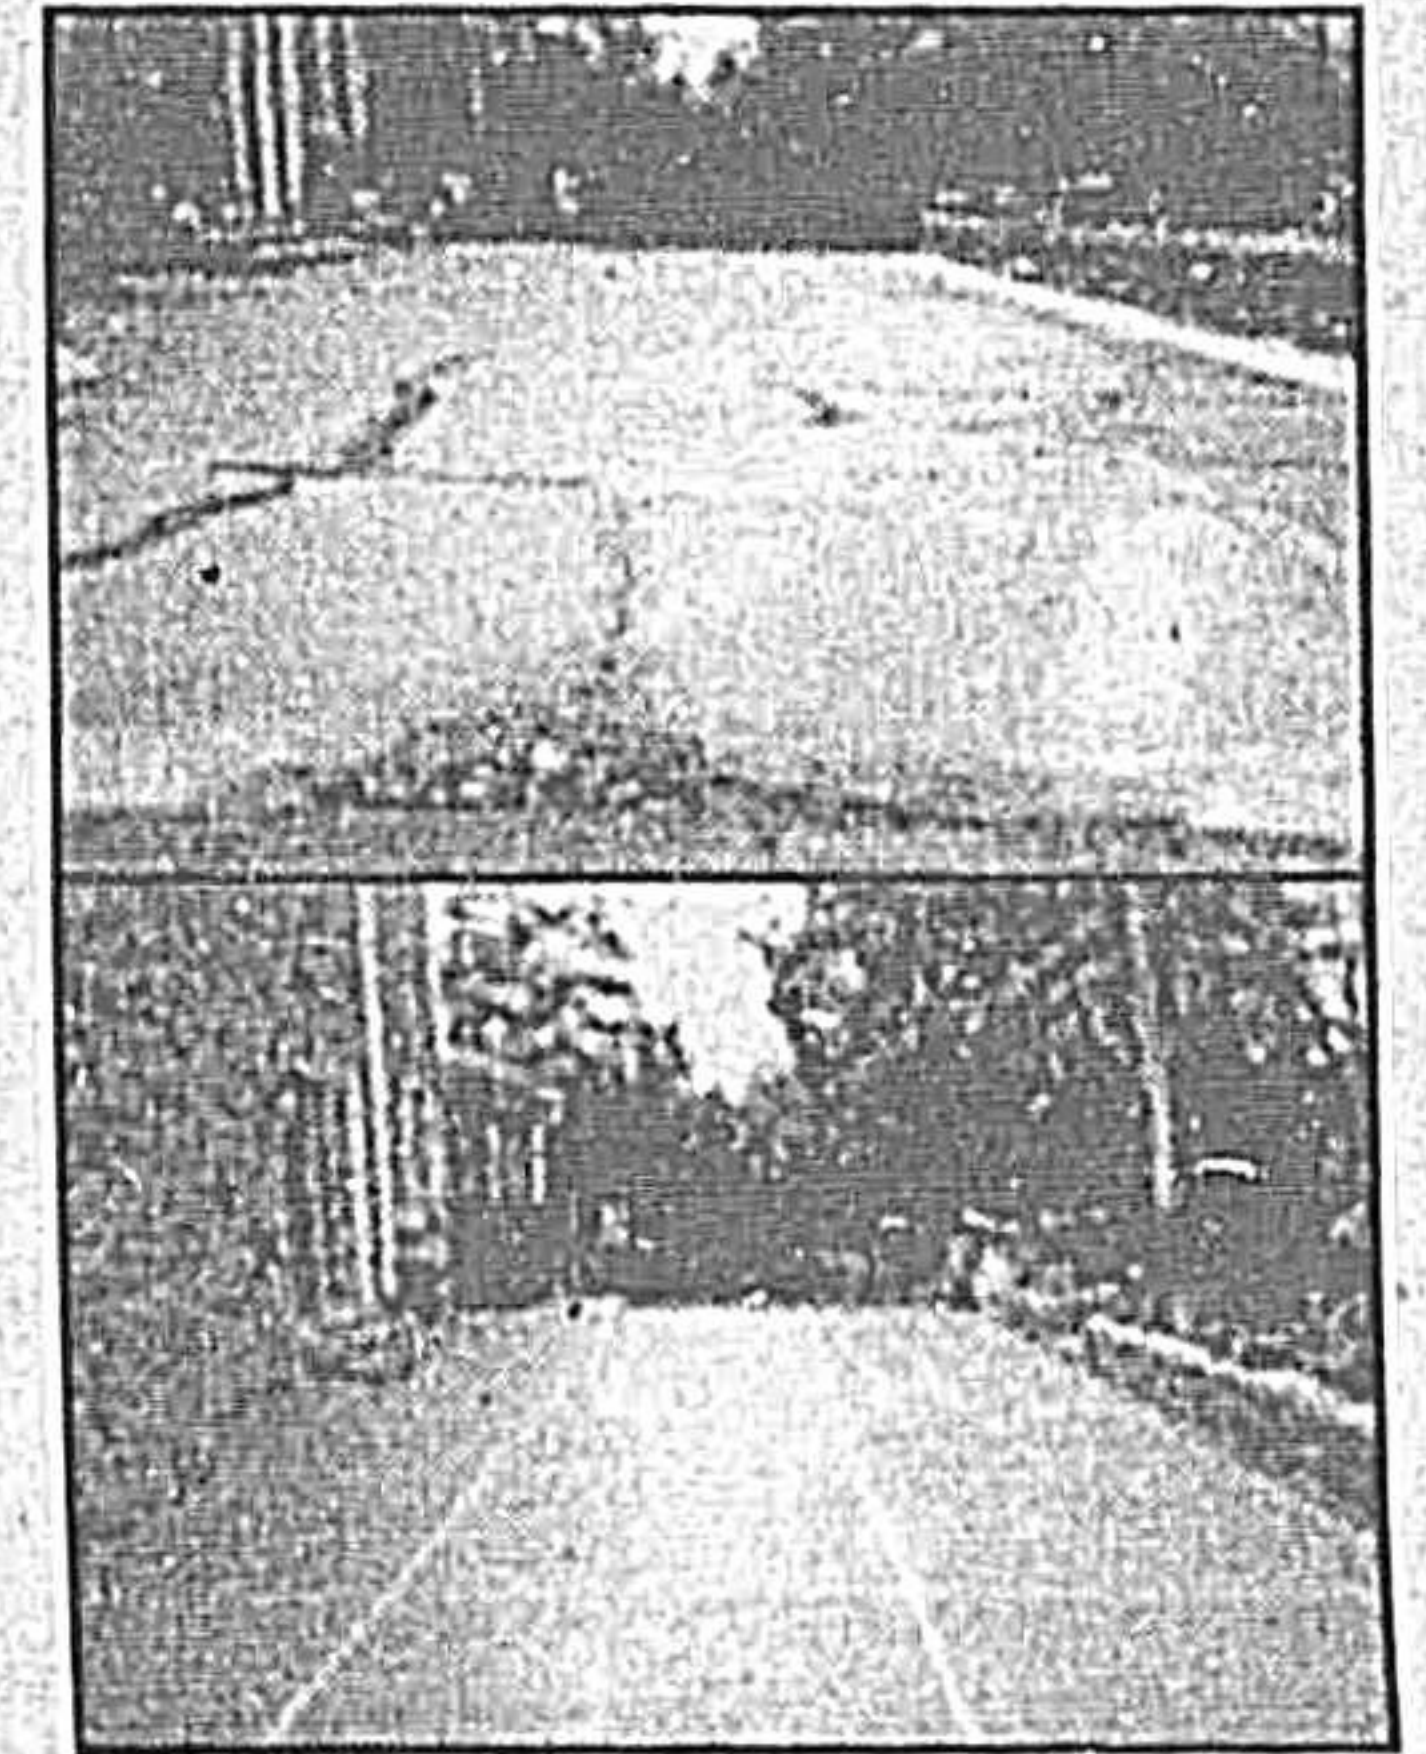

McCarty defended the drainage and said the plans had been followed as approved by the village in 2000. As for the trees, he said a contractor had done that and then refused to move them off the neighboring property. He added that he contacted the neighbors immediately and asked that they make a joint police report against the contractor.

The vote for the variance of the building to house the vehicles and the vote for the variance to accommodate a larger building were handled separately. The board voted to send a negative recommendation to the village board for the variance to allow for the vehicle storage, and voted not to send any recommendation on the second variance request.

Flight Club

Young Eagles program provides youth with taste of aviation

By MICHELLE HABRYCH Lakeland Correspondent

"When once you have tasted flight, you will forever walk the earth with your eyes turned skyward, for there you have been, and there you will always long to return."—Leonardo da Vinci.

Young people in the area are having an uplifting experience, thanks to the Young Eagles program.

Area youths are invited to take to the skies with a free 20-minute flight in a small aircraft courtesy of the Experimental Aviation Association (EAA) and its Young Eagles Program.

Rose Cooperider of Round Lake volunteers as a coordinator for the flights. She explained: "The main purpose of the program is to give kids that first time up in the air, and it's to encourage kids to fly, to be interested in aviation, so it is educational."

Local EAA Chapter 414 sponsors monthly rallies to provide children age 8-17 with a demonstration airplane ride. Members volunteer their time, as well as their resources and airplanes, because they are committed to the cause, Cooperider said, adding that the pilots realize these experiences are necessary if aviation in America is to expand beyond commercial and military flight.

Pilot Bill Butler was honored by the EAA this summer when he gave his 500th flight to a child. "These pilots are really good with kids—they wouldn't be doing this if they didn't have a heart for kids," Cooperider said.

Prior to the Young Eagles rally, parents are asked to call the event coordinator to schedule a flight time. Parents are required to accompany their children to the event and fill out a consent form.

When it's time to fly, parents may be allowed on the plane with their children, depending on the weight the plane can carry and how busy the flight schedule is that day. Different types of small aircrafts are used, including Cessna 172, Cessna 177, Cardinal and Glasair. Some of these planes only hold two passengers, while others allow for up to three passengers and the pilot.

"The pilot puts headsets on each kid so that they can communicate during the flight," said Cooperider, who has flown with her children before. She said the pilot then explains the control panel and take-off procedures. "He'll even describe what take off will feel like so the kid is mentally prepared for what it about to take place."

Once in the air, the pilot points out landmarks, such as Lake Michigan or Great America, to the children. Many children enjoy the experience of seeing these things from the air because of their perceived change in size.

Tiffany Cooperider, 14, shared that her favorite part of her flight experience was "seeing how tiny the people are—they look like ants."

Her 10-year-old brother Thomas said he enjoyed seeing cows from the air. His twin, Jonathan, recalled the view from the aircraft as his most memorable part of the flight, while 11-year-old Jimmy Cooperider thought the whole experience was fun.

"I'm surprised at how few [kids] are afraid to go up," Rose Cooperider said, adding that the group never pushes the child or forces the flight. Instead, the child is encouraged to come back when he is ready, she said. If a child becomes afraid during flight, the pilot ends the demonstration quickly.

This makes the child more willing to try again later, Cooperider said. Her son Thomas said his first time was very scary. When he said something to the pilot, the flight ended and Thomas said he felt better about trying it again in the future; he has since flown four times.

'Houdini Séance' comes to Chicago's Haunted Castle

According to such TV shows as "Sightings" and "America's Most Haunted Places," Excalibur Nightclub is one of the most haunted spaces in Chicago and home to a number of resident spirits. But for the week leading up to Halloween night, it may be playing host to a spectral out-of-town visitor: Harry Houdini, anticipated guest of honor at "The Houdini Séance."

Halloween celebrants hoping to experience the thrill and chill of a traditional Victorian spirit circle are invited to attend "The Houdini Séance," presented by the Chicago Assembly of the Society of American Magicians on Oct. 24-26 and 28-31 in the Vision Dome, adjacent to Excalibur Nightclub, located at 632 N. Dearborn. Proper ID required for admittance.

Admission is $10; an additional $5 gains admittance to a post-séance buffet. There are two seatings nightly, beginning promptly at 7 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. Seating is limited and awarded on a first come, first served basis only. The doors to the séance room are securely locked at each appointed hour and latecomers will not be admitted.

For more information, don't hesitate to call Colleen Ryan at Ala Carte Entertainment at 773-774-1919 or Chicago Assembly president and séance medium Neil Tobin at 708-308-1280.

Scare up some fun at Brookfield Zoo's Scarecrow Festival

Join in the fall fun at Brookfield Zoo for its annual Halloween celebration. The Scarecrow Festival takes place Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19 and 20, from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. behind the zoo's Safari Stop restaurant.

Scarecrows will be displayed through "Boo! at the Zoo," held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 26 and 27.

In the Special Events Arena during the Scarecrow Festival, young zoo visitors can decorate Halloween-themed paper bags, including ones with a scarecrow, black cat or pumpkin face. The bags can be used for school lunches, trick-or-treating or decorating the home. While creating bags, visitors can listen to Dona and Dan Benkert, who will entertain zoo-goers with a pot-pourri of music, playing delicate waltzes, traditional Irish music, lively Appalachian fiddle tunes and high-spirited foot-stompin' favorites. The duo plays the hammered dulcimer, one of the very first stringed instruments.

Other family entertainment includes performances at noon and 2 p.m. on The Living Coast Plaza by Thursday's Child, an acoustic music quartet. Band members play guitar, dobro, bass, banjo and mandolin, to create a blend of music such as bluegrass, urban folk, jazz, blues and old time country. And, on the East Mall at 1 p.m., Elite Seet, a group of children from the PAV YMCA, will perform a jazz dance with an infusion of tap to "Thriller," complete with scarecrow, monster and thriller costumes.

Don't pass up a special fall treat—pumpkin pie. Slices of the mouthwatering favorite will be available for purchase at restaurants throughout the park.

Brookfield Zoo is located off First Avenue between the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways. For more information, call 708-485-0263, ext. 358 or visit the web site at www.BrookfieldZoo.org.

Witches, warlocks revealed in 'Bats in the Belfry'

Village Theatre Productions presents "Bats in the Belfry" on Oct. 24, 25, 31 and Nov. 1 and 2 at 8 p.m. and on Oct. 27 at 3 p.m. at the Brainerd Building Auditorium, 416 W. Park Ave. in Libertyville.

"Bats in the Belfry" is a charming comedy centered around four "Aunties" of the Ogilby Conservatory on Music for Young Ladies. The story takes place on Halloween where you find out that all four ladies are witches. In the true spirit of Halloween, the ladies confess to their niece their secret and that of the invisible Mr. Ogilby who just happens to be a warlock. Fun ensues when silly and strange events take place at the party they throw that evening. Bring the whole family for some fun.

Tickets are $7 in advance, $8 at the door and $5 for seniors and students. For more information, call 847-367-0774.

Pumpkin patriotism themed for Sycamore Festival

The Sycamore Pumpkin Festival will be held Oct. 23-27 held in Sycamore. The event starts out with a cake cutting ceremony on the courthouse lawn Oct. 23 at 5 p.m. when several thousand pumpkins start arriving to be judged. For many people this is the highlight of the festival to see the creativity and imagination that is put into these entries.

Thursday night the carnival begins and lasts through Sunday. There are hundreds of non-profit vendors up and down Main Street selling food and souvenirs.

Popular craft shows start Friday. There is one at the Armory on State Street, one at St. Mary's Parish Center and one at the United Methodist Church. United Methodist Church starts Friday at 2 p.m.

while the other two start at 9 a.m. Special busses are available to help people get around Sycamore.

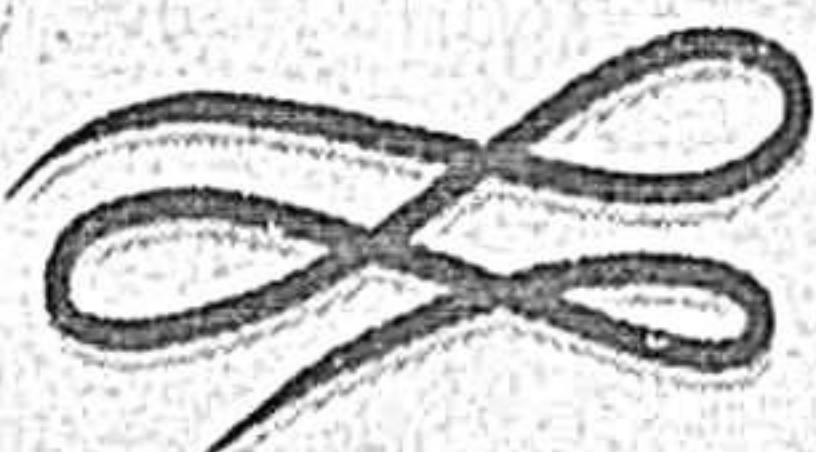

The pumpkin patch baton-twirling contest is Saturday at the Sycamore Junior High School from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. There is a golf scramble at the golf course and a Library House Walk from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. At 4 p.m. on the courthouse lawn, there will be a pie eating contest.

Sunday morning at 9:35 a.m. thousands of runners will participate in the ten-thousand meter run. With the grand finale being the giant two-hour parade. There are over 100 units that include animals, clowns, bands, floats, children in costumes and more family entertainment.

Lake Geneva Car Rally successful weekend

Car Rally staff Jerry Fitzpatrick of Fontana, Wis., Don Drebenstedt of Madison, Wis. and Bill Donoghue of Lake Forest, with Rally trademark car 1939 Ford V8 Deluxe.

The 25th Annual Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally benefiting the American Cancer Society attracted over 800 cars, trucks and motorcycles, with $41,000 raised to fight childhood cancer in memory of Corinne Kreissl. Proceeds added to the previous amount of $401,003 since the first rally in 1978.

The tour route around Geneva Lake was traveled in both directions by participating vehicles so thousands of spectators enjoyed the show of rolling stock from many vantage points around Geneva Lake. Awards were presented after an organized fly-over by World War II biplanes and antique aircraft. The group, called "Liflight," is the Classic Car Rally's air wing under the direction of Dick and Jeanne Hill of Harvard.

Founders of the Corinne Kreissl Foundation, George and Jan Kreissl of Lake Geneva presented the awards and door prizes and thanked all participants, volunteers and donors. Bill Donoghue of Lake Forest initiated the new silent auction held on Sunday.

The first 10 places in competition received wall plaques donated by Rallye Productions, Inc. of Waukesha, Wis., the company that donates the dash plaques for participating vehicles.

Plans for the 26th Annual Classic Car Rally are currently underway with Sept. 27 and 28 being the dates in 2003.

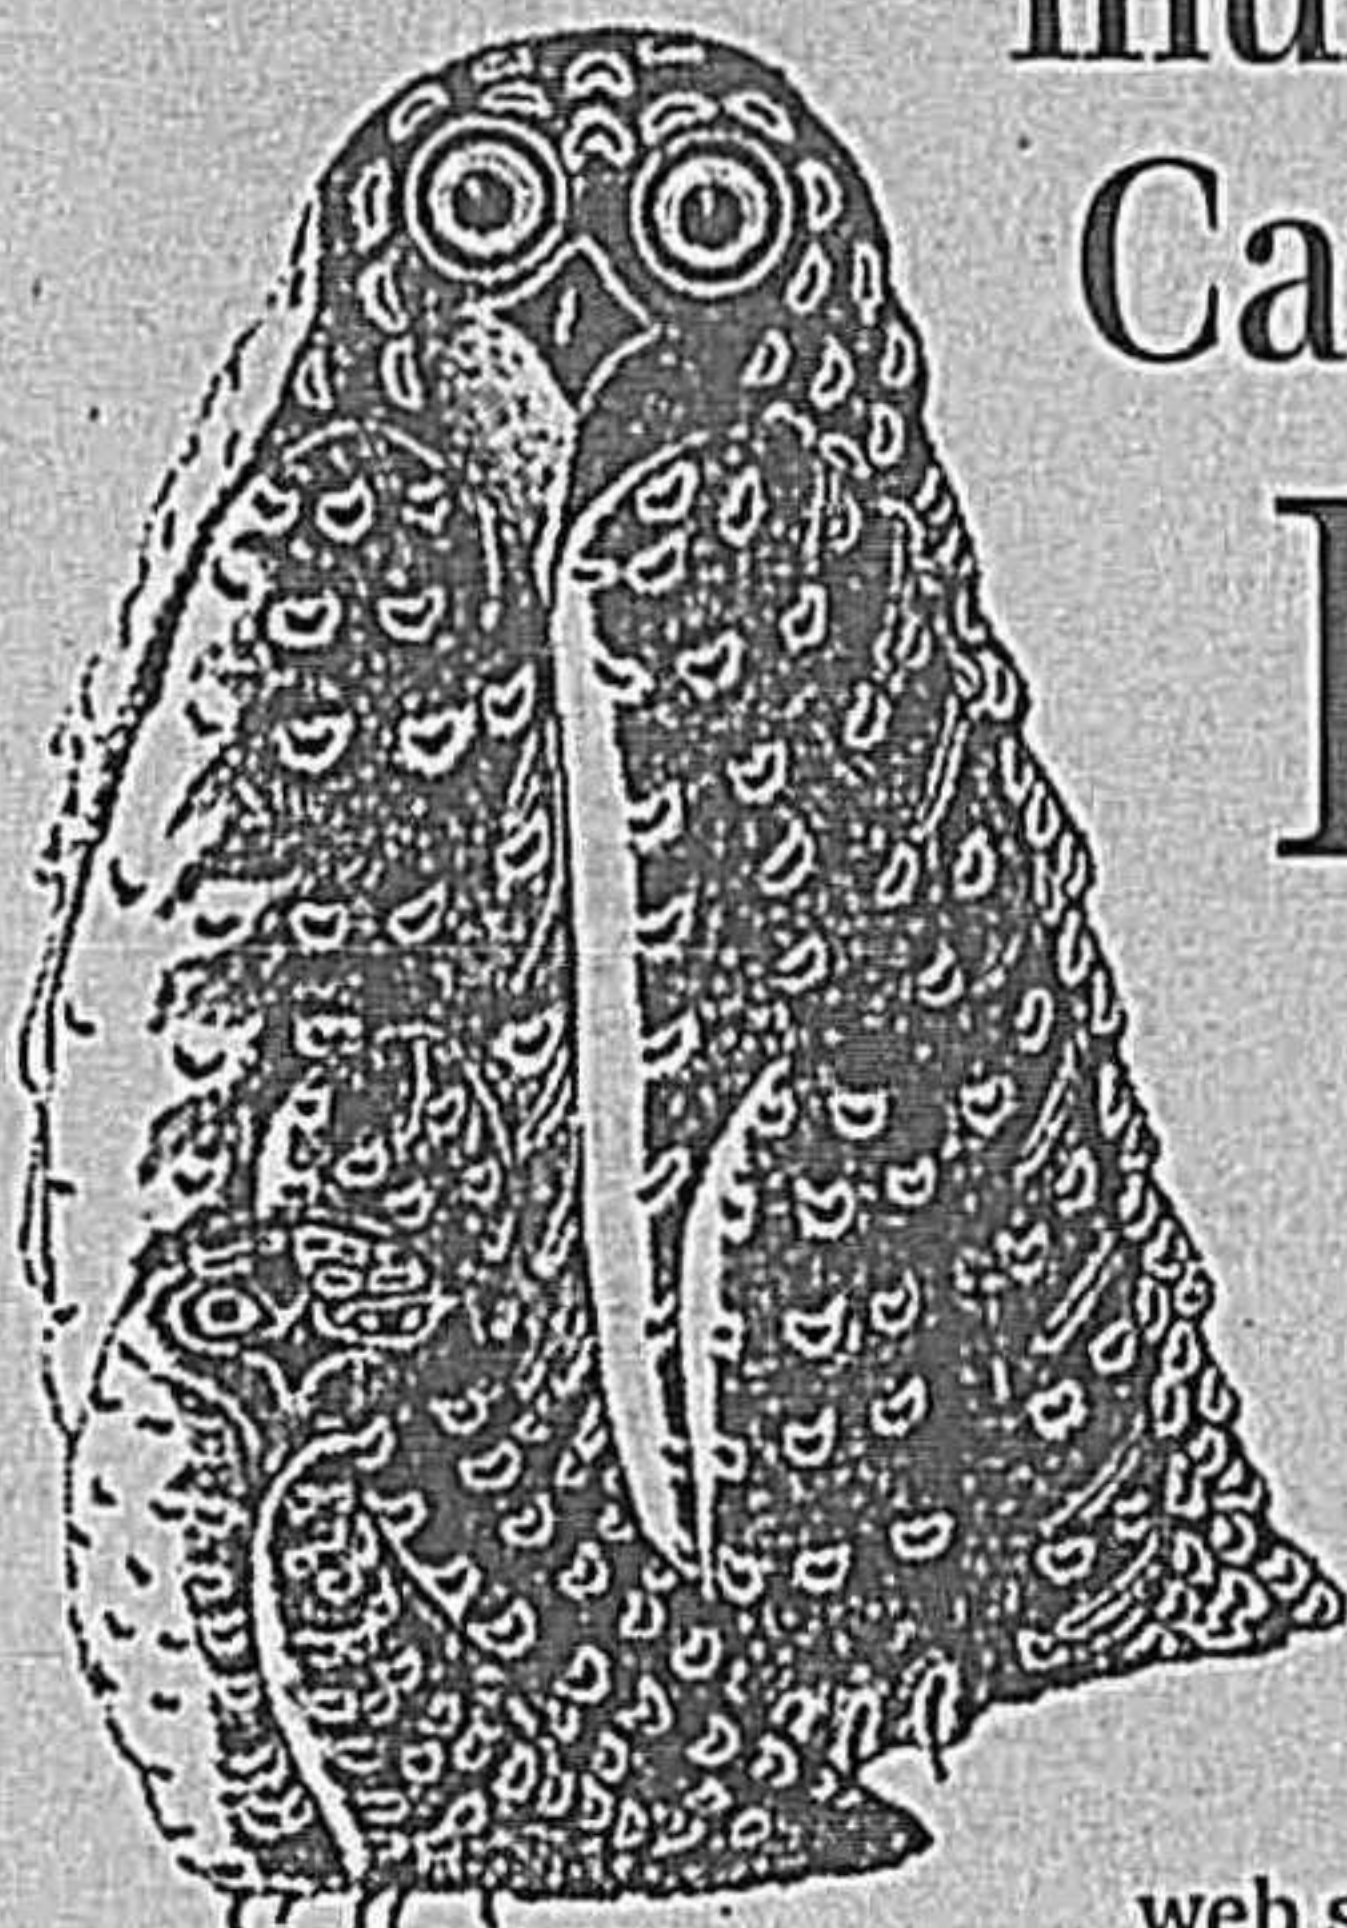

For further information, contact George and Jan Kreissl, P.O. Box 732, Lake Geneva, WI 53147, or call 262-248-2764.

Fingerstyle guitar master LJ Booth in concert

On Sunday, Oct. 20, The Greenleaf Grill, 301 Greenleaf St. in Park City, welcomes back one of their favorite performers, LJ Booth. An exceptional fingerstyle guitar master, great singer, songwriter and interpreter, LJ is also one of the few people able to make up a song right there on stage. His live performance material spans "Water, Fire and Smoke" to Richard Thompson covers to his own excellent songs, including "Akasha Wind," "Boogy Man" and "Bathtub Virgin." He has entered three songwriting competitions—Kerrville's New Folk, Telluride's Troubadour and Falcon Ridge's Showcase—and won all three.

Booth is a one-of-a-kind. Newcomers to his live performance quickly learn to expect the unexpected. Fans have come to anticipate his onstage (often hilarious) creations popping up—usually triggered by something happening right now.

Born in the Philippines, most of LJ's childhood was split between India and Idaho. With traveling in his blood, LJ hitchhiked extensively in the States and in Europe after leaving home, working a variety of jobs: oil rigs in Wyoming, a lumber yard in Portland, planting trees in Idaho, playing street music in Germany and Switzerland, maintenance work at Crater Lake. These experiences spawned songs that transport you through the everyday and the absurd.

LJ has three CDs to his credit, "Yarns" (1986), "Big Hourglass" (1992) and "The Ox That Pulls the Cart" (2002). For more information, visit the web site at www.ljbooth.com

Club member, Pete Jonsson, also a fine fingerstyle guitarist, singer and song interpreter, will open the show.

Theater Theater Theater

Sparks fly in Bradbury classic 'Fahrenheit 451'

Ray Bradbury's "Fahrenheit 451," despite its title, is a chilling play. It's an ideal selection to open Steppenwolf Theater Company's 2002-03 arts exchange season, as futuristic—and relevant—as when it was written in 1953.

In this edgy drama, most people live in fireproof houses, and when the firemen answer calls it's to burn books, which the leaders of society have banned because of their potential for disruption. Anyone who reads the likes of Edgar Allen Poe, Charles Dickens, Jonathan Swift, Leon Tolstoy, Walt Whitman, Jane Austen or William Shakespeare is guilty of a crime.

As explained by the fire chief Beatty (played with blunt, cynical force by Jeff Still), the objective is to cut out thinking and talking and foster mindless televised entertainment and all manner of sports instead of politics or philosophy. (So the citizenry may know scores—but not the score.)

"Fahrenheit 451" is set in the distant future when billboards, once 25 feet across, are now 100 feet wide so motorists zooming by in jet cars can read their messages. TV news is reduced to the shortest possible sound bites.

Montag (John Connolly) is a fireman who begins to question his mindless job after befriending Clarisse (Corryn Cummins), a young rebel whose enlightened family has clung to old traditions.

Adopting her wise grandfather (Maury

Cooper in a strong performance) as his tutor, Montag learns of the "magic of books" and how they "stitch patches of the universe together for us," enhancing the quality of life and leisure time.

But this quest for free speech proves perilous, and Montag soon becomes a hunted man, eventually finding a haven among a secret group of survivors who have dedicated themselves to the oral tradition of passing on the great books to succeeding generations.

"Fahrenheit 451" is directed by Dado, who has worked at Steppenwolf as an actress, an understudy and mentor. Tickets are $10, and there are only two remaining public performances, Oct. 19 and 22 at 11 a.m.

The Drake Theatre presents 'Mad Forest'

The Theatre School Theatre Arts Department at Depaul University, Barat Campus in Lake Forest proudly presents Caryl Churchill's "Mad Forest," developed with students from London's Central School of Drama and directed by Carlos Murillo.

This is an incisive portrait of society in turmoil that focuses on two families to reveal what life is like under a totalitarian regime and what results when the regime collapses. Written just after the 1989 revolution, the play depicts these two families enduring the oppression of the Romanian dictator Ceausescu's regime. The play's brief scenes are almost cinematic in their presentation of events as seen by ordinary people trying to live in peace.

"Mad Forest" runs Friday, Oct. 18 through Saturday, Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 20 at 3 p.m. Tickets are $9 general, $7 students/seniors. All seats are reserved. To order tickets and for more information, call The Drake Theatre Box Office at 847-574-4758.

'The Frog Prince' at Northbrook Musical Theater for Young Audiences

Lisa Wolf and Peter Vamvakas in a scene in "The Frog Prince."

The Frog Prince" runs each Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. now through Nov. 9 at Northbrook Musical Theater for Young Audiences, 3323 Walters Ave. in Northbrook.

Starring the Brothers Grimm, this new adaptation of the classic fairy tale teaches its audiences that beauty is in the eyes of the beholder and love is more than skin deep. A handsome prince is turned into a frog by an evil sorceress. He can only return to his true human form if kissed by a princess in spite of his ugly appearance.

Tickets are just $7 paid in advance or $8 on the day of performance. There are discounts for schools and groups of 15 or more.

A special lunch package is available on Nov. 9 at 11:45 a.m. between shows. This package includes a ticket to the show, lunch, dessert and a visit from the characters in "The Frog Prince" during the meal. A lunch/theatre ticket is just $10 per person.

Special weekday performances for schools and similar groups are available on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the run of the show. A grant from the McGraw Foundation will pay for transportation to and from the theater for qualifying schools.

For tickets, lunch packages or additional information about transportation, call the Northbrook Musical Theater For Young Audiences at 847-291-2367.

FANTASY FOOTBALL MONTHLY

(Touchdowns Only!!!)

EARLY SEASON FANTASY FOOTBALL LEADERS

Hard to imagine, but six weeks of NFL football has already been played. Depending on what kind of a league you're in, there may be quite a few surprises in your early point leaders.

One of my league's awards 6 points for a running or caught touchdown. They give 4 points for throwing a touchdown and extra points for running, catching and throwing yards. If a running back catches a pass or a quarterback runs one in, you get a few extra points. You get the idea...

I am going to give you my league's leaders through six weeks. It will give you a guide for what has happened so far this season. Notice some big names are missing from this list.

Don't forget this list includes yardage. For Lakeland Newspapers' Fantasy Football Monthly, you do not need to worry about yards, ONLY TOUCHDOWNS. But this guide should still help.

Deadline for the November contest is Oct. 31st (must be postmarked by that date).

TOP TEN QUARTERBACKS:

1. McNabb, Donovan, 2. Culpepper, Daunte, 3. Gannon, Rich, 4. Green, Trent, 5. Bledsoe, Drew, 6. Ramsey, Patrick, 7. Brooks, Aaron, 8. Fiedler, Jay, 9. Brady, Tom & 10. Favre, Brett

TOP FIFTEEN RUNNING BACKS:

1. Holmes, Priest, 2. Garner, Charlie, 3. Alexander, Shaun, 4. Faulk, Marshall, 5. Tomlinson, LaDainian, 6. Henry, Travis, 7. Williams, Ricky, 8. Lewis, Jamal, 9. McAllister, Deuce, 10. George, Eddie, 11. Staley, Duce, 12. Green, Ahman, 13. Taylor, Fred, 14. Davis, Stephen & 15. Smith, Lamar

TOP TEN RECEIVERS:

A distinctive country bread from France

The new edition of "The Breads of France - And How To Bake Them In Your Own Kitchen" (Ten Speed Press, 2002) by Bernard Clayton Jr. will be a welcome addition to any baker's bookshelves.

Nothing beats the culinary satisfaction that comes from making artisanal bread. And this book demystifies the process with its clear step-by-step instructions.

You'll like the crusty country bread from André David of the Normandy fishing port of Honfleur. We left our sturdy electric mixer handle the kneading chores and further enhanced the end product by topping it with a mix of sesame and poppy seeds and kosher salt. Baking time for our two loaves was about 30 minutes.

COOKING by the BOOK

Honfleur Country Bread

Starter

1 Tbl. honey
1 cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees F)
1 package dry yeast
1 cup bread or all-purpose flour, approximately
1 cup whole wheat flour

Dough:

All of the starter
2 cups warm water (105 to 115 degrees F)
1 Tbl. salt
2 cups whole wheat flour
2-3 cups bread or all-purpose flour, approximately Baking sheet: One or two baking sheets: greased and sprinkled with cornmeal or Teflon. Number of sheets depends on number of loaves made and size of oven.

Preparation: Starter (8 minutes): In a large bowl, dissolve honey in 1 cup warm water and add yeast. Stir to dissolve and let rest until creamy. Add 1/2 cup each white and whole wheat flours to make thick batter. Add balance of two flours to make a shaggy mass that can be worked with the hands. Knead for 3 minutes. Toss in liberal sprinkles of white flour if slack or sticky.

(4 hours or overnight) Cover bowl with plastic wrap and then leave it at room temperature (70 to 75 degrees F) for at least 4 hours. Left overnight it will develop even more flavor and strength.

Dough (10 minutes): Pour 2 cups of warm water (105 to 115 degrees F) over starter. Stir with large wooden spoon or rubber scraper to break up dough. Add salt. Place 2 cups each of white and whole wheat flours at the side of the mixing bowl - and add equal parts of each, 1/2 cup at a time, first stirring with utensil and then working it with the hands. It may take slightly more white flour to make a mass that is not sticky. Lift from the bowl with the hands.

Kneading (8 minutes): Place the dough on floured work surface and begin to knead the dough aggressively with a strong 1-2-3 motion of push-turn-fold. Once in a while, lift the dough high above the work surface and bring it down with a crash to speed process. Do this 3 or 4 times and then resume kneading. Dough will be moist, solid and a pleasure to work.

First rising (3 - 4 hours): Return the dough to the bowl (washed and greased), cover tightly with plastic wrap and leave it at room temperature (70 to 75 degrees F) to double in volume, over 3 hours.

Shaping (10 minutes): Push down dough and turn out on well-floured work surface. Divide dough into desired number of pieces and shape with cupped hands into tight balls. Reserve 1 cup of dough to make wheat stalks later, if desired. Place on baking sheet and press tops down to flatten slightly.

Second rising (2-1/2 hours): The loaves are left under waxed paper to triple in size, about 2-1/2 hours at room temperature.

Decorating: Wheat stalks: These need a large round hearth loaf that measures at least 12 inches across to do the stalks justice. Shortly before the loaf or loaves are completely raised, divide the reserved cup of dough into 3 pieces. Roll each into a long strand 12 to 14 inches long. Place them parallel and, beginning 4 inches from one end, braid to that end. Turn strands around and separate to make it convenient to cut the wheat design on each. With sharp-pointed scissors, make small cuts down 5 inches of strand - alternating right, center and left - to create grains of wheat protruding from the stalk before harvest. Leave remainder of stalk uncut and bare. Repeat pattern for each strand. Lightly brush top of loaf with water and carefully position the wheat decoration. Fan the upper stalks apart.

Baking (425 degrees, 30-50 minutes): Preheat over 20 minutes before baking and place broiler pan on the bottom shelf. Five minutes before the bread goes in the oven, pour 1 cup hot tap water in the pan to create a moist, steamy oven. Place the loaves on the middle shelf. Midway through the bake period, shift loaves to balance the effect of the oven's heat. Loaves are done when golden brown. Bottom crust will sound hard and hollow when tapped with a forefinger.

Final step: Place on metal rack to cool before serving. Freezes well.

$79 USED CAR SLASHER EVENT!

1 DAY ONLY: SATURDAY OCTOBER 19TH
• REGISTRATION BEGINS AT 9:00 AM
• THE SLASHER BEGINS AT 11:30 AM

Gurnee, IL

Without a doubt, history will be made at Gurnee Dodge this Saturday, October 19th when 250 used cars, trucks, vans and SUVs will be slashed to rock bottom with five vehicles slashed to $79.

Arnie Singer, General Manager of Gurnee Dodge the site for this one day sales event, has announced plans to sell used cars, trucks and vans for $79, Saturday, October 19th. "Because of record new car sales, we must drastically reduce the amount used vehicles that we have in stock. To stimulate sales, used cars, trucks and vans will be sold for thousands below N.A.D.A. book value. The savings will be dramatic." Mr. Singer said. "5 vehicles will even be sold for $79! Our customers will find that these prices may be even lower than at wholesale auctions."

Anticipating an influx in customers, the dealership located at 7255 Grand Avenue in Gurnee, will have a pre-registration Saturday starting at 9:00 am to allow potential buyers to preview the cars for this one in a million dollar reduction event.

Here's how the $79 SLASHER SALES EVENT works. Registration is at 9:00 am on Saturday, all vehicles will be opened for inspection. The retail price will be posted on the windshield of each vehicle. When the $79 SLASHER SALE begins at 11:30 am, the Price Cutter will cross out the retail price on each windshield and replace it with the new slasher sales event price.

Whoever is sitting behind the wheel when the event begins will have the first chance to purchase the vehicle at the slasher sale price. Every vehicle's price will be slashed once to its rock bottom price and 5 VEHICLES WILL BE SLASHED TO $79! This slasher sales event is for the public only. Sorry, no dealers or wholesalers will be eligible to participate.

Special finance and credit analysts will be present to approve on-the-spot delivery to all qualified buyers. There will also be special credit programs for all customers who have past credit problems due to repossessions, divorce or poor credit. Buyers are encouraged to bring their checkbooks, paycheck stub, utility bill and the title to their trade-in.

FLIGHT CLUB

Parents encourage their children to take part in the program, Rose Cooperider pointed out. "The parents want their kids to have that experience, because there's very few things left in life that are actually free. This is one of them," Cooperider said. "The value of (the experience) is to allow a child to try something that they've never done before so that child can find out if they like something and want to pursue it."

Maria Gurtowski of Gurnee learned about the program through a pamphlet she received at the Gurnee Days parade. She shared her reason for wanting her 8-year-old son Christopher to experience a flight demonstration. "I wanted him to not be afraid to fly."

Christopher said of his experience, "I felt like a I was a bird, just gliding through the air." He would encourage other children to try it for themselves. "It was really awesome and they should try to do it. I think it's a great opportunity to fly in a plane."

Launched in 1992, the Young Eagles program has flown over 830,000 children nationwide. Its goal is to fly one million children by the 100th anniversary of powered flight in December 2003. Locally, EAA Chapter 414 had its best rally yet with 160 children flown on Sept. 28. Sixty people are signed up for the next rally, which is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 19. Flights are given from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. at Waukegan Wings Air Club at the north end of the Waukegan Airport. Rose and Jim Cooperider are the event coordinators for the rally. Call them at 847-546-1874 to schedule a flight time or for more information. If there is bad weather, the rally will be rescheduled.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

A friendly conversation ends up causing you a lot of problems later this week. A misunderstanding results in an argument. Stay calm, cool and collected.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Control your temper this week, Taurus. Someone is trying to bait you into an argument. Just keep your mind on what you have to do and everything will be OK.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You have a relaxing week ahead. Enjoy it! Pamper yourself, and splurge a little if you want. Now's the time to do it, because things will get hectic again soon.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Keep the pedal to the metal this week, Cancer. People are counting on you. A loved one needs to ask a favor - it will be difficult, but you just can't do it this time. You're speeding ahead.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Don't hold grudges. Accept a friend's apology. A loved one needs romantic advice. Be supportive and helpful; Virgo plays an important role in this, especially on Tuesday.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Accept only the best this week. An acquaintance tries to pull a fast one on you, Virgo, but you won't have it. That special someone has a something romantic planned for you.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Work gets tense later in the week. Don't despair. With a calm head, you can help things get back to normal. A friend takes you out on Friday. Enjoy!

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't wear your heart on your sleeve this week, Scorpio. The person to whom you're attracted finally responds to your advances, but don't get too excited - yet.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

A disagreement with a friend throws you off track. Try to stay focused on the task at hand; don't worry about it too much. The two of you will work things out by the weekend. See if Taurus can lend a hand.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't be shy when you meet someone important this week. Get yourself noticed, this is the perfect opportunity to advance your career. A close friend shares a secret.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

You have your freedom this week and you couldn't be happier. Spend time doing what you want to do instead of what others tell you. An Autumn road trip will fit the bill.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Laugh at everything that goes wrong early in the week. If you don't you may just have to scream - that would only cause more problems. Do what you can to simplify the situation.

Knock knock

This is what we're talking about here! In the past, the effort might have been there but the result was always the same. Deep into the season, the Mundelein varsity football team, despite starting off winning its first two or three games in years past, would succumb to the 'big boys' of the North Suburban Conference. They were the doormat, or close to it, year in and year out.

But last weekend, the Stangs made a statement. They rose to the occasion against Lake Forest. Knowing that a play-off berth was on the line for the first time in the school's history, this team came out with the desire and passion. They weren't about to let one of the biggest games of their lives slip through the seams.

That all important word confidence played a huge factor in the win over the Scouts.

"We just wanted to regain that after tough losses to Warren and Libertyville," said Mundelein head coach Jeff Geary. "We did it. But our guys remain focused because they know we have two difficult opponents left."

Difficult opponents are right. Mundelein will travel to Stevenson Oct. 18 for a date with the Pats, who are averaging, oh, 37 points per game. Sure, the Pats have Giannini, Schust and Bonadonna. But the Mustangs have Gaebler, Drecoll, Hawkins and Heber. If Mundelein wants to keep the momentum going and upend Stevenson, guys—the Pats pass defense isn't the best. They score points in bunches but so do you. Get Gaebler and Drecoll going early. Use that to set up the bruising running of Hawkins and Heber. There won't be any defense in this game. Stay with them offensively and you've got it licked.

As for last week, Mundelein wasn't the only one to hit for the proverbial 'first'. Down the road a piece, Carmel was busy putting the finishing touches on its first conference title in the school's 36-year history.

But the football faithful around these parts have gotten used to Andy Bitto's Corsairs taking a few numbers, especially in the last 2-3 seasons—they have grown to expect that now year in and year out.

Only thing—there's another Mundelein team that has apparently opened that initial door to success. Same road, same town. Only they don the silver and red.

Did you know: In its 79-14 victory last week, the North Chicago Warhawks are now proud owners of a new State record for touchdowns scored in a game—12.

Soehn ready to instill 'Fire' within to youths

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

You could say Grayslake resident Tommy Soehn wanted to give a little back to the sport which has been very good to him.

Soehn, who played professional soccer for seven years—including his last three for the Chicago Fire—has made that opportunity a reality.

It was about three years ago that Soehn, who currently serves as an assistant coach for the Fire, brought the Chicago Kickers Youth Soccer Organization to Lake Villa.

"I wanted to offer a valuable and established soccer program to the kids in this area," said Soehn, who acts as the club's director coaching as well as coach of the under-14 boy's team. "We have a direct interest in the community. The program is open to anyone. Plus, I've surrounded myself with some unbelievable coaches that have grown up and played soccer at the college level. I see what they are giving back to the kids and I wanted to do the same thing."

The Kickers organization currently has four teams competing: under-11, under-12 and under-14 boy's teams. There is also an under-14 girl's team. But according to Soehn, there are more teams in the works for the 2003 season. He said the Kickers are looking to field high school aged teams as well as youth teams starting with eight- and older. Tryouts for the high school teams (U-15-U-18) will actually be held Sun., Oct. 20 from 3:30-5 p.m. The tryouts will be held at Palombi Middle School, 131 McKinley Rd., Lake Villa. That's where the teams now play their games, at least until their new complex is completed. A make-up date for those who can't attend Oct. 20 is set for Sat., Oct. 26 at the same location but from 4:30-6 p.m. For further information please call 847-356-5311 or 847-680-0923.

There will also be older teams so players can keep competing even after high school.

As far as the new complex is concerned, Soehn said it looks to be completely ready for action by the fall of 2003.

"It's really a nice, family-oriented facility,"

he said. "It will have a picnic area, two soccer fields and a meeting hall. We will also stress sportsmanship and as well as a code of ethics."

The complex, located about a quarter-mile west off Grand Ave. in Lake Villa, hasn't officially been named yet.

"The property was just sitting there," said Soehn. "It was part of the German Aid Society. We started looking into whether it (purchasing the land) would be feasible. Things eventually fell into place."

And youths are in store for quite the soccer experience. Soehn said that several Chicago Fire players, Carlos Bocanegra, Jim Curtin, Henry Ring, David Vaudreuil and Orlando Perez, will offer coaching and instruction to the kids.

"The kids will get exposure and instruction from professional athletes, which you don't see every day," he said. "We're basically funding our own program, which we're very proud of. The cost is minimal to join. But because we're funding it ourselves, it's of no cost to the community. It's hard to beat that."

Soehn said that a 'kicking for kids' clinic is also in the works.

"We just applied for a grant to fund that," said Soehn. "The kids will receive free instruction as well as a T-shirt." Roger Gray was another instrumental piece of the puzzle.

"I was with Lindenhurst Travel Soccer at the time and Tommy approached a lot of the local travel teams as to let them know what the Kickers were doing," recalled Gray. "I asked if he could help train my team. He's excellent with the kids. They loved him. Plus, he's a man of his word and very professional about things."

Grays added: "The Kickers have been around for nearly a half-century. It's a great organization for the aspiring (youth) soccer player. Kids develop not only into good players, but good people as well."

Sectionals next; time is now for Sequoit tennis

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

The Antioch High School girl's tennis team will head into this weekend's Warren sectional with solid experience as well as the hopes of advancing to the State tournament. "With the senior leadership we have with only two girls that weren't on last year's team of six, and seeing last year when they got close and then decided to work and push to do better this season, I think we're definitely farther along than we were at this point last season," said Antioch head coach Brian Plinske.

Even with the number of quality opponents looking to advance from the sectional to state this year, Plinske believes that Antioch remains right on par with them.

"We definitely have a chance at qualifying singles and doubles players. It will take a lot of hard work and effort, but the possibility does exist," he said. "We're definitely going to be a factor."

Antioch will have to face tough competition against teams such as Warren, Johnsburg, Grayslake, and Grant, having lost to Warren in dual meet action during the regular season.

Last year Antioch failed to advance any players to the state championship.

The Warren sectional will take place Oct. 18-19, both as the O'Plaine and Almond Road campuses.

Last weekend, the team competed in the North Suburban Conference meet where the team finished tied for sixth overall.

The No. 2 doubles team of Ashleigh Honaker and Ashley Jensen won the consolation championship, while the rest of the team finished in the sixth position.

"I was very happy with where the team finished," said Plinske. "Our goal was to be right where we are. We feel we're a good enough team to have taken fifth and maybe even fourth, but being right there in the mix of the conference is all right with us."

Lake Forest won the event while Libertyville finished in second place.

Napier takes top honors

Antioch's Andy Napier continued his solid season by taking first in the 11-team Benet Invitational over the weekend. Napier's time on the 3-mile course was 15 minutes, 40 seconds. Teammate Jim Beatty, also a senior, finished in fifth with a time of 15:56. Mike Addison (30th, 16:48), David Dee (35th, 17:04) and Chip Leffelman (38th, 17:17) were other top finishers for Antioch, which tallied 109 points.

The Antioch girls finished eighth with 239. Senior Amanda Hammond (35th, 20:50) Jill Hughes (48th, 22:34), Lauren Thurlwell (49th, 22:40) and Nicole Keating (52nd, 22:08) led Antioch.

Both teams will be competing in the North Suburban Meet Sat., Oct. 19 at Lake Forest. The first race is scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

Lindenhurst man held in abduction, assault of woman

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst Police arrested a local man who is now charged with the unlawful restraint, criminal sexual abuse and battery of a Park City woman.

William B. Henders, 37, of 731 Sycamore Court, Lindenhurst, is in custody at the Lake County Jail on $30,000 bond. A second man involved in the crime has been tentatively identified. Police are seeking a warrant for his arrest.

At about 3 a.m. on Oct. 14, a resident of the Country Place South subdivision in Lindenhurst called police to report a distraught woman had come to the door asking for help.

The 28-year-old woman, a resident of Park City, told police she had been forcibly detained in an automobile, and subjected to battery and sexual abuse by a person she met in a bar in Park City.

She showed signs of trauma to her face and neck. The Lake Villa Rescue Squad responded, but the woman refused to be taken to a hospital.

She told police that, after leaving work, she went to a bar where she met two males. She voluntarily left with them. She said she knew one of them slightly.

After leaving the bar, she became uncomfortable with the situation, and asked to be taken home. The men refused.

Henders was in the back seat with her. The other man, not yet identified by police, drove the vehicle, but did not touch the woman.

She claimed she tried to leave the car but was unable to unlock the doors.

She alleged that Henders held her down and fondled her against her will. No clothing was torn in the process.

She fought him off. He told her he was taking her to his house to "party."

As the vehicle entered the subdivision, she screamed at a passing car, and told the men she would continue to scream if they did not let her go.

At that point, the men released her.

The driver of the vehicle was described as a white male, about 28-30 years old, about 6 feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds. He has reddish-blond hair and a goatee.

The victim was referred to LACASA for counseling services.

ANTIOCH

Suspended driver's license

Nadine F. Lenarczak, of 2319 72 Court, Elmwood Park, Ill., was arrested for driving while suspended on Oct. 15 at the intersection of Route 173 and Grimm Road.

Police stopped Lenarczak for having only one red taillight. When her identifiers were checked through LEADS, information came back that she had a suspended driver's license.

Lenarczak was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department where she was put through booking procedures and issued citations for having only one red taillight and for driving while suspended. She was released on personal recognizance pending court.

LAKE VILLA

Battery

Adam C. Jackson, 18, of 519 Deerpath, Lindenhurst, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Oct. 10, at 3:15 p.m., at Central Baptist Children's Home, 215 N. Milwaukee Ave. He was charged with battery following an incident involving a teacher. The teacher told police that Jackson used a basketball to make sexually abusive contact with her after she verbally disciplined him. The student claimed he threw the basketball across the room. He refused to sign a written statement, and was subsequently arrested. He was released in his own recognizance, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-405, on Nov. 6, at 9 a.m.

Three young men were charged by Lake Villa Police in connection with an alleged fistfight on Oct. 7, at 4:43 a.m. at Deep Lake Apartments, on Milwaukee Avenue. Police responded to a 911 call from a cell phone. The call was made by Jeffrey Hamer, 20, of 1505 Kildeer, Round Lake Beach. Police found a white Oldsmobile leaving the Deep Lake Apartments parking lot heading onto Route 83. The car had blood on the driver's side and on the roof. The driver was identified as Jeffrey S. Grady, 20, of 1823 33rd, Zion. The passenger was Joseph F. Vestuto, 20, of 23418 127 Place, Trevor, Wis. Behind them was a red Dodge, driven by Hamer's sister, with Hamer in the passenger seat. After stopping the Oldsmobile, police detected an odor of alcohol on the occupants. Hamer was bleeding from his mouth. Lake Villa Rescue Squad was called to the scene. Hamer claimed to have been jumped by Grady and Vestuto following an altercation concerning Hamer "picking on" Vestuto's girlfriend while the three were drinking together in an apartment in the Deep Lake building.

Hamer alleged his black leather jacket valued at $300, was taken during the fight. All three of the 20-year-old men took breath tests. Hamer registered .049 BAC on a PBT. Vestuto registered .154 PBTR. Grady, who was driving, was given an Intoxilizer test, yielding a result of .106 BAC.

All were charged with consumption of alcohol by a minor. Grady and Vestuto were also charged with battery. Vestuto was charged with theft.

All were served with notices to appear in Waukegan courtroom C-405 on Nov. 1, at 9 a.m.

Suspicious substance in water

Lake Villa Police responded on Oct. 5 at 10 a.m. to a report of a red dye in a pond at Savanna Springs. When they arrived, the scene had been compromised. They observed the water, rocks and pond at the entrance to the subdivision were stained red. Witnesses gave the police a plastic bag containing a reddish-brown powder found along with cups and plastic gloves on the rocks at the top of the waterfall near the first pool.

Police asked the bystanders to step back, as it was unknown if the substance might be hazardous. There was no odor and no nearby plants or animals appeared to be affected.

Residents at a subdivision across the street, under Round Lake Beach jurisdiction, said nearby retention ponds and wetlands were red. The Lake County Health Department was notified.

The Savanna Springs waterfall is supplied by a well at the top of the waterfall, which spills down over the rocks into three smaller pools to the main pond.

Excess water drains under Monaville Road into the retention ponds and wetlands on the south side of Monaville Road.

The ponds are the property of the Savanna Springs Homeowners' Association. Police have no suspects.

LINDENHURST

DUI

Patrick Weiland, 29, of 1366 Stratford, Gurnee, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Oct. 11, at 1:46 a.m., while driving on Rte. 45 at Hutchins Road. Police observed the driver going 77 mph in a 55-mph zone. He braked suddenly, crossing the double yellow line. Police detected alcohol on the driver's breath, and found an open 12-ounce bottle of beer in the vehicle. Weiland failed four of four field sobriety tests, and refused breath tests. He was charged with DUI, improper lane usage, improper turning, failure to yield on a left turn and open transport of alcohol. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Nov. 12, at 9 a.m.

Patt, Helander, scrambling for Clerk votes

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Democratic candidate for Lake County Clerk Patrick Patt is claiming that the incumbent Willard Helander is incompetent.

"Here we go again," said Patt at a press conference at the Lake County Democratic Headquarters. "Florida had its hanging chads and now Lake County has an absentee ballot fiasco."

Patt said that voters who wanted absentee ballots last week had been turned away because of ballot printing errors, and those who were given ballots prior to the mistakes being discovered now have their votes in limbo.

Patt went on to say that the voters deserve an election process that is both accessible and accurate especially after the last presidential election.

Del Re defends himself from lawsuits, critics

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Del Re

With just a little over two weeks before the Nov. 5 election, problems are mounting for Republican Sheriff Gary Del Re.

Still he claims the charges against him are all politically motivated.

Already being sued by two towing companies for allegedly steering business away from them because they supported his opponent in 1998, and being sued by the family of Maurice Smith, who died while incarcerated at the Lake County Jail on May 4, Del Re is facing yet another law suit.

This time it's a civil rights lawsuit filed by two bar owners, Bradley Tully and Rollow Arlin, who allege that in 1998, sheriff deputies fabricated a drug case against them because they supported Del Re's opponent.

"The charge is absolutely unequivocally false in the strongest possible term," said Del Re. "I don't know Mr. Tully. I have never been inside his bar and certainly wasn't aware of his political views."

Del Re said that his son David Del Re is a former Lake County state's attorney and once prosecuted Tully's daughter, Michelle, for battery and resisting arrest. After the trial Del Re said Tully told his son, "I will get you and I will get your father," and then walked out of the courtroom.

DEL RE

"I think this underpins my position that so much of this is political and retribution," said Del Re.

On the lawsuit filed by Roger Whitmore, owner of a Zion based towing operation, who said his business was reduced after refusing to support Del Re, he said, "What doesn't get reported is that Whitmore continues to tow for me. Last year he had 287 tows and his brother Randy continues to tow for me. There are other towing operators that have not contributed to my campaign and they still tow for me. The notion that it is based on politics is foolish."

On the lawsuit filed by the family of Maurice Smith, Del Re said, "That suit has been filed by my opponents law firm. It is unfortunate that he is using the unfortunate death of Mr. Smith as a political ploy. The cause of death was a heart attack and the case was thoroughly investigated."

The Sheriff also disputed the so-called no confidence vote by the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 66, and that the sheriff's deputies have low morale. "I have serious doubts to how the votes were cast," said Del Re. "The majority of my employees are proud to come to work everyday."

Del Re added, "Because of my ability to get along with my deputies and because of my policing strategy I have been endorsed by 36 mayors and municipal leaders. Even more meaningful is I received the unanimous endorsement of the Lake County Police Chiefs Association."

On the lawsuit filed by Peter Jakstas, owner of Mineola Marine of Fox Lake, Del Re said, "I find it highly suspicious that something that allegedly started happening in 1998 is now coming to light only 20 days before the election."

Del Re said that under his administration there have been more promotions in the history of the sheriff's office including minorities and females.

"These are dangerous times we are living in and I don't believe that this is the time to switch horses in mid stream," said Del Re. "As Sheriff I will continue to fight the epidemic of drugs and violence that continue to plague our children. I hope to build the strongest child safety agenda in the history of Illinois."

Del Re is supported by Mundelein Police Chief Ray Rose. "Sheriff Del Re's knowledge and experience is generally unsurpassed," said Rose. "As a resident of Lake County, I wouldn't want anyone else at the helm to keep people safe."

CLERK

County Clerk Helander was contacted for her side of the story. "They were not printing ballot errors from this office," said Helander as she explained that her opponent doesn't understand the process.

Helander said she ordered ballots printed on an offset press from Election Systems and Software Inc., of Omaha, Nebraska, but received ballots that were printed digitally. She told the vendor she wanted what she ordered and the problem has been fixed and all absentee voters have received the proper ballot.

Patt commented, "I don't care how many people are tracked down and reissued ballots, they won't be able to get everybody. In my opinion the integrity of this election has been impugned."

He added, "What about the people who couldn't get a ballot and had to leave town?"

Helander said she has asked Patt for a name of a person who asked for a ballot and had to leave town—but he couldn't produce one.

"The proper procedures have been followed," said Helander.

Patt concluded, "The frequent turnover in the election department and the numerous mistakes over the last eight years call out for new leadership in the Lake County Clerk's Office."

New commerce chambers in store for Waukegan, Gurnee

By STEVEN SKINNER
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce is intensifying its effort to reach out to the business community by forming two new partnership chambers, one in Waukegan and one in Gurnee. The Mexican community is growing and opening new businesses to meet the demands of the larger population. Dee Garcia, vice president of the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, has recently joined the Lake County chamber's board.

Garcia praised the efforts of the chamber to reach out to the Hispanic community. The Hispanic chamber was begun 15 months. The new chambers in Waukegan and Gurnee will each have its own separate board of directors and separate offices.

The idea to expand the chamber first originated in the early 70's and is meant to mirror the growth and expansion of the population and business.

According to Katie Spies, the Lake County Chamber president, the Lake County Chamber of Commerce board adopted the concept at the August 26, meeting. "We recognized a growing economic base and we wanted to increase our presence in Gurnee and Waukegan. We also feel this will help with the redevelopment of Waukegan," Spies said.

Spies said there are four reasons why businesses tend to join a local chamber of commerce. The first reason is a business hopes to show it is in good community standing. Second, is to get business referrals and increase business traffic. The third reason is to gain exposure on the chamber website, which is viewed around the world. And the fourth reason to attend chamber events and network with other businesses.

"With the two events we host every month, we are in front of about 350 businesses a month.

The Lake County chamber is the oldest of the 19 chambers in existence throughout the county and was begun in 1915. "We're hoping our local focus will increase membership," Spies said.

Spies said the next 60 days are needed to finalize logistics and decide on a logo and publish it. According to Spies, it has been decided to have a cohesive look with the logo and both new chambers will share the same logo.

The Gurnee chamber will share the corporate office of the Lake County Chamber. The Waukegan chamber will open an office in January in Waukegan and will share the office with the Hispanic chamber, which currently has 400 members.

Award winning outfit on display at museum

Part of large collection

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Angela Maris, 70, says she has enough energy that she can run circles around two 30 year-old people.

She also said she has friends that are in their 80's and one who is 95 years old that still like to play golf.

And if that isn't enough to impress people, Maras is also a designer.

In fact the Lake County Discovery Museum is currently displaying an award winning child's outfit that Maras created.

The outfit can be seen at the museum located in the Lakewood Forest Preserve in Wauconda Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Maras is a graduate of the Marie Boecier French School of dressmaking and design. Her prize-winning entry won first place in the National Grange Cotton Sewing Contest in 1969. This patriotic dress ensemble was made at that time for 6 year old Jeanne Lindgren, now Dr. Jeanne Washow, an Antioch podiatrist.

Maras won first prize out of 50,000 entries in the National contest.

Maras has been a member of the Lake

County Homemakers Extension in Grayslake and the Antioch Woman's Club for over 40 years.

Retain Helander; Fagan for vision in sheriff's office

Because incumbent County Treasurer Robert Skidmore, Republican, and Roycealee J. Wood, Republican nominee for Regional Superintendent of Schools are running without opposition, there are only two races for county-wide office this year. But the two offices to be filled are lively and interesting contests, pitting two qualified and able Democrats seeking to replace two experienced and tested Republicans.

County Clerk Willard Helander was elected eight years ago in an upset. Helander immediately established her independence and demonstrated dedication to filling the clerk's responsibilities. She's never looked back. Under her leadership, the county installed user-friendly computerized voting to replace the old stylus punch card system without a hitch. Helander personally gets involved in recruiting election judges to keep up with rapid growth for new precincts. She hasn't been afraid to challenge campaign violations in connection with the state election code such as blowing the whistle on an illegal voter registration scheme by Democrats at a Waukegan church. Her office is well staffed with courteous personnel. Her Democratic opponent, Patrick Patt, a retired school administrator, has attained notice as a campaigner by limiting his expenditures to a skimpy $3,000 to make a point about costly elections and he ran across the county on a hot summer day for notoriety. But successful campaign gambits aren't enough to dislodge an honest and hardworking clerk. Voters should reward Helander with reelection and we endorse her without reservation.

The 2002 campaign for sheriff has been unusual because both contenders are Republicans, Gary Del Re as the incumbent, and Charles E. "Chuck" Fagan, a life-long Republican and from a family of Republican activists, who switched parties to make the run as a Democrat. The campaign, though, hasn't been about partisanship, as we see it. The campaign has been about vision for a "new look" sheriff's office, call it a sheriff's department for the Homeland Security era. By normal standards, Sheriff Del Re has done a workmanlike job. On his watch, serious crime is down, more illegal drugs have been seized than ever, there are initiatives for new technology, and plans developed for terror response. Not a bad record. Yet there are major gaps unfilled after seven years of Del Re's ways. Fagan's charges of discontent in the ranks have been substantiated by an unprecedented vote of no confidence in Del Re's leadership. The challenger has a plan to correct the shortcomings of all sheriffs in the recent growth years, inadequate policing in unincorporated areas, particularly in the area of drug dealing. Fagan aims to end cronyism in promotions and selection of command positions. One of Fagan's advantages is presenting a no-nonsense image of a stern taskmaster and a tough lawman. Fagan speaks of exerting greater discipline in military-like mode. There'll be no doubt who's boss with Fagan in charge. As sheriff, Chuck Fagan would exert a much-different style of law enforcement leadership, more in tune with times that call for authority figures. No-nonsense management. Fair. Hard line on lawbreakers. Close to the action. Close to personnel. Close to the people. The Democrat challenger wants to repair strained relations with the County Board. That will pay off in solving problems like the growing prisoner population and much needed expansion of housing for offenders in work release. We think there will be a positive response to a new leader with a new vision. For that reason Chuck Fagan's election is endorsed.

In the uncontested offices of County Treasurer and Regional Superintendent of Schools, the candidacies of Skidmore and Wood typify why Republicans have maintained command of most county offices for so many years. Both are up-from-the-ranks committed public servants. Bob Skidmore and Royce Wood, who will be stepping up in the school post, go about their jobs hands on. They are public spirited, honest and hardworking. They are excellent role models for what persons in public life should be. Electors can give them a vote of confidence Nov. 5 in the knowledge that the offices will be cared for expertly and the citizens well served.

Ryg, Sullivan choices in new districts

State Rep. 51st Dist. (Libertyville area, Round Lake Park, Mundelein, Lake Zurich)—Republican nominee Ed Sullivan Jr., already well known as the youthful, but experienced assessor of Fremont Township, and Democratic newcomer Nancy Shepherdson are running in a newly drawn district. Sullivan gets our endorsement because of his demonstrated ability in government and adherence to conservative standards. He knows the district and who he will be representing. Shepherdson, running with union backing, seems mostly interested in campaign finance reform.

State Rep. 52nd Dist. (West Lake County and eastern McHenry County)—Steven M. Skinner, slated by the Democrats in a new district, earns points for earnestness and energy, but he's over matched by seasoned incumbent Republican Mark Beaubien, who had County Board experience before elected to the General Assembly. Skinner is looked upon by party leaders for more help in the future. Now is not his time and Beaubien is endorsed. The Libertarian Party has nominated Matthew Paul Burns.

State Rep. 53rd Dist. (Buffalo Grove)—As a former mayor, incumbent Republican Sidney H. Matthias could be more valuable, especially in issues relating to municipal government, but he just pushes construction of Route 53 as the first and only solution to Lake County traffic problems. Democrat nominee Thomas Duda is a practicing attorney and active in local Democratic politics. No endorsement.

State Rep. 58th Dist. (Highland Park area)—Incumbent Democrat Karen May, a public relations professional, has proved to be a serious legislator, advancing causes that serve her district where she is recognized for her staunch protection of the environment and expanding public open space. Republican nominee Mark P. Brown, a wealthy businessman, is a political newcomer who hasn't made a mark on public policy. Voters will do well to retain May and she is endorsed.

State Rep. 59th Dist. (Vernon Hills, Lincolnshire, Green Oaks)—Democratic nominee Kathleen A. Ryg, experienced in village government as village clerk and currently a village trustee, gives promise of helping solve problems like over building, highway congestion and taxation disparities created by her opponent, Roger L. Bryne, the mayor of Vernon Hills, whose zeal for growth and development unquestionably has turned Vernon Hills into a major commercial center of Lake County. As a problem solver and not a problem maker, Ryg gets the nod for election and our endorsement to represent a newly drawn district.

State Rep. 60th Dist. (Waukegan)—Eddie Washington has been a work horse for the Democratic party and is a recognized political voice with a world of good intentions, we see Republican businesswoman Susan Tenzi as uniquely qualified to represent this new district. Tenzi not only has ideas for economic development, she is demonstrating them in her every day life as a successful entrepreneur. While she gets our endorsement on her personal record of achievement, she will need crossover voters to win in a district designed by Democratic mapmakers to enhance party numbers in the House.

State Rep. 61st Dist. (Antioch area, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Zion area)—Incumbent Republican Timothy Osmond is coming into his own as a party leader and GOP voice in Springfield, especially in educational matters. As a former supervisor, he knows grassroots government. Osmond is economy minded and he works hard. He has earned reelection and is well deserved of our endorsement. His opponent is Jason Linn, a recent college graduate and student of public policy, who is running mainly to gain recognition in the political arena.

State Rep. 62nd Dist. (Graylake, Round Lake area, Gurnee)—Republican nominee Robert W. Churchill, gave up a safe seat to run unsuccessfully for statewide office. Now he's back again, running in a reconfigured area because of redistricting. Knowledgeable and tireless, Churchill has not lost his verve for serving in the General Assembly. Churchill was a leader in exacting much needed reform for the Chicago Public School system when previously serving in a leadership position when the GOP was in the House majority. As a leader, there is no reason he won't pick up where he left off. Churchill has our endorsement, but we wish he look for other highway congestion solutions than building Route 53. His opponent is unknown Judy Armstrong, who ran unopposed in the Democratic primary. Armstrong is a community activist, involved mostly in school activities.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Skinner no chicken on campaign trail

Cal Skinner, who once represented part of Lake County as a state representative, is trying to score points in his bid for Illinois' governor as a Libertarian by injecting some humor into the serious business of politics.

He's introduced JimRod, the two-headed chicken, to go along with the baby pig that accompanied him last spring during a speech at College of Lake County.

Skinner says JimRod symbolizes his opponents Jim Ryan and Rod Blagojevich who have so many similar positions and because they refused to include him in gubernatorial debates.

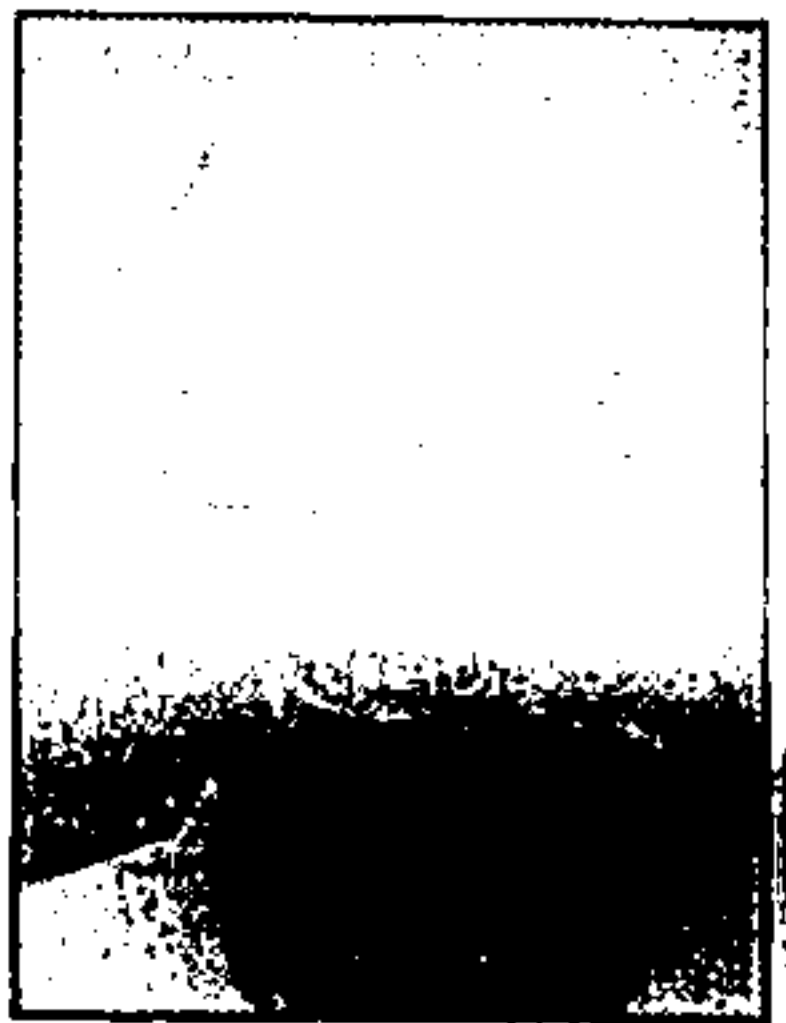

"We have two Golden Gloves boxers who are afraid to get into the ring with me, a guy who has only one fight in his life. What are they afraid of?" Skinner wants to know. A resident of Crystal Lake, Skinner served 16 years in the House as a Republican in the 1970s and 1990s.

Immigration views

The Women's Republican Club of the Tenth Congressional District will host a luncheon featuring Dave Gorok on Friday, Oct. 25 at 12:30 p.m., at Sunset Ridge Country Club, 2100 Sunset Ridge Rd., Northfield. Gorok is executive director since 1999 of the Midwest Coalition to Reduce Immigration, a non-profit, non-partisan organization founded in 1955 to educate the public on the need to reduce immigration to sustainable levels. Please mail reservation check for $25 by Oct. 22 to P.O. Box 872, Wilmette, IL 60091. For questions call Jackie Benson, 847-446-5034.

Confronts 'The Wall'

Democrat Dennis Murphy, running to fill the vacancy created by the primary defeat of County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake), admits that one of his obstacles is "the party wall some Republicans build around themselves." In door-to-door campaigning, Murphy says he explains that

Skinner:
Animal Kingdom serves Cal well.

Murphy:
Out to take down Republican walls.

his ideas about controlling growth and protecting the environment are on the same page with Leafblad. Murphy is campaigning in a district that includes Round Lake Park, Third Lake and sections of Grayslake.

Rally atmosphere

Members of the Men's and Women's Republican Club of the 8th Congressional District worked to create an old-time political rally atmosphere for a dinner with Congressman Phil Crane Friday night at Concorde Banquets, Kildeer. President Bob Neal organized distribution of literature and provided a platform for the veteran GOP Congressman to report on the War on Terrorism and how Capitol Hill stands on a possible war in Iraq.

No tricks allowed

Confident of returning to the General Assembly, Republican Bob Churchill has planned a Halloween Trick or Treat party for Tuesday, Oct. 29. "The only tricks this election season will be on the Democrats who think they have a chance to beat Bob," declared an invitation to the event at Stratford Banquet, Grayslake. The gathering also is designed to give Churchill's campaign fund a list minute surge. A reception with refreshments will run from 5:30-8:30 p.m.

Dogs vs. cats, pretty good squelch

Comparing the intelligence of dogs and cats, we recently quoted an old line that suggests felines are smarter than canines:

"You can't get eight cats to pull a sled through snow."

Which prompted a note from an extraordinary reader; not just an ordinary reader because this was from my brother Earl, of all people:

"But you also can't get eight dogs to use a litter pan"

Rim shot, Earl! Zinger! Also, a near-perfect squelch.

The squelch probably is better known in today's vernacular by more cool terms, but the definition is still "a retort that silences an opponent."

Here are three of history's most famous squelches:

England's Lady Nancy Astor told Churchill, "Winston, if I were your wife, I would poison your soup." And Churchill replied, "Nancy, if I were your husband, I would drink it."

On being told President Calvin Coolidge had just died, sassy writer Dorothy Parker asked, "How could they tell?"

Another president, homely Abraham Lincoln, was no slouch as a squelcher. When an opponent accused him of being two-faced, Honest Abe quipped: "If I were two-faced, would I be wearing this one?"

Years ago, the highbrow New Yorker magazine reprinted such retorts under the heading, "The Perfect Squelch." I remember in college some students thought it was chic to bop around campus carrying a couple of textbooks with the slick New Yorker on top of them.

It was a way of letting people know you were a culture vulture but, actually, some of us read only the cartoons and smart-alecky fillers like the squelches.

One of the all-time great squelchers was Groucho Marx who, upon being invited to join an exclusive organization, snapped: "I

THE PFARR CORNER

wouldn't want to belong to any club that would accept me as a member."

My mother-in-law is a natural-born squelcher. I've been married to her daughter for 26 years and she still calls me Gary.

The fawning media mob gives sports stars lots of opportunities for conversation enders. Here's baseball's Stan Musial answering questions about whether he or Ted Williams was the better hitter: "I always say 'He was good, too,'"

Here's Larry Bird, on whether Michael Jordan is the greatest basketball player ever: "He's in the top two."

Writers would ask flamboyant Charles Barkley, "What will you do after basketball?"

Barkley's squelch: "If push comes to shove, I could give up all my self-respect and become a reporter."

One of the all-time great put-downs is from "Gone with the Wind." Rhett Butler tells Scarlett O'Hara, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn."

But few remember when and why he said it. Fed up with their marriage, Rhett was leaving Scarlett, who had pleaded, "If you go, where shall I go? What shall I do?"

My brother Earl did concoct that litter-pan line but says, "As you know, I'm a cat lover like you."

Famous friends of cats included Abraham Lincoln, who briefly halted the Civil War when he found three orphaned kittens in General Grant's camp. Lincoln took them under his coat and found a home for them.

But he would have done the same for three puppies.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Man of integrity

This is a letter of recommendation written on behalf of Chuck Fitzgerald. I have known Chuck for 29 years. In this time I have found him to be a fine friend and citizen. A man of integrity, I would speak strongly of his moral and ethical character. Words I would use to describe him: Caring, hardworking, dedicated, well rounded, knowledgeable, and scholarly. In my experience, he has always kept the well being of his constituents his first priority.

*Ames R. Mathée
Lake Bluff*

Dem for Ann

I have been a staunch Democrat my entire life. However, Republican nominee, Dr. Ann Maine will change my voting pattern on Nov. 5.

Ann is running for the Lake County Board and Forest Preserve Board commissioner in District 21. I talked with her a few weeks ago when she was campaigning door to door in Riverwoods. Ann Maine was well-informed, eager to listen and full of fresh ideas. I have never met such an outstanding and qualified candidate before.

I was highly impressed by Ann's extensive background and experience including a Ph.D. in Biochemistry and six year term as a trustee on the Lincolnshire Village Board. It was also impressive to note that the Chicago Tribune, Sierra Club, and Lake County Conservation Alliance Political Committee endorsed Ann Maine in March 2002.

*Margery Newman
Riverwoods*

Crane washed out

I am so pleased to discover and support an action-minded candidate for the 8th District: Melissa Bean. She is running against the washed-out ways of Phil Crane, who has let us down for more than 20 years. Melissa Bean will carry vision of leadership to Washington for us, and will help shape legislation on education and business development that is truly fitting and filled with promise for our neighbors, current and future.

If your neighbors are like mine, you will have to acknowledge that you can recall few if any, contributions Crane has ever made to the social and economic welfare of his primary constituents. Instead, his actions in Congress betray the fact that he is beholden to special interests, most of them distant from the ongoing concerns of his district. You and I can do better, and we will do just that, by casting our votes for Melissa Bean.

*Edith Naselli-Carpenter
Fox Lake*

Moms against Rod

I definitely don't want Rod Blagojevich to be my next governor. I left Chicago, where I originally grew up. I moved to Lake County because of the gangs. I witnessed a gang shooting in the alley behind my first floor apartment and then I heard my daughter cry. My precious children were asleep in their beds to awake to the gunfire.

I can't stress enough to all moms to ask yourself this question. Do I want this man to be making the decisions for my children's well being? I don't. I have been very impressed with Jim Ryan's career, and his record. So I beg of you for the good of our precious children please vote for Jim Ryan. I trust him to make the decisions that are good for my children's future.

*Dawn Livengood

Not independent

To all people writing letters concerning Mark Kirk as an independent leader for the 10th District, I would like you to know that your independent leader has voted with the majority 85 percent of the time. He voted for programs for education but he voted not to fund them. To me that is not leadership. He has refused countless amounts of opportunities to debate and participate in forums with his challenger Hank Perritt and that is not a quality a leader possesses. Nowhere has Kirk shown that he is a true independent leader and that he is not afraid to challenge his party. He passed a prescription drug plan that is full of holes, which will do nothing in the long run and is ready to head off into a unilateral war with Iraq. Mark Kirk is right, he will create a new legacy for the 10th District, his own legacy and not one that he shares with you.

Jean Kolodziej Waukegan

Cole anti-business

Recently, I attended a Lake County public hearing for the rezoning of a busy corner lot from residential to commercial. While the County Planning Department voted in favor of the rezoning, the local County Board Member Sandy Cole was firmly opposed to the rezoning. At the meeting, she declared that she would never be in favor of rezoning any property in her district from residential to commercial.

I believe the Grayslake District 11 Board member's rigid, anti-business position was tolerable during the 1990s ever expanding economy. But, today with the slow economy, mounting public and private debt, record home foreclosures and rising unemployment, a more flexible county representative is needed. The American Freedom and Liberty Alliance endorses Democrat Gayle J. Cinke for District 11, County Board.

*C.F. Burton,
President- American Freedom and Liberty Alliance*

Kerpec the choice

After reading Lincolnshire trustee John Conaster's comment about fellow board member Ann Maine's great attendance record at Lincolnshire board meetings I could not control my laughter. I immediately recalled an article featuring Conaster's and Maine's poor attendance record. Write all the flowery testimonials for one of your "part time" board buddies, Mr. Conaster, but stick to the facts. Do you really think the citizens of Lincolnshire and all of County Board District 21 are so gullible? Furthermore, do you really think they will overlook Pam Kerpec's huge advantage over Maine in hands-on experience and impressive record of service to the residents of Lake County? There is no more qualified county board candidate nor more effective environmental advocate than independent Democrat Pam Kerpec. She is the overwhelming choice!

Ron Nowak Libertyville

Fagan impressive

I find it hard to believe that anyone who has heard Chuck Fagan speak about his plans for the Lake County Sheriff's Office would not be impressed by his professionalism and knowledge. This was especially true at the Lake County Power Breakfast, where Fagan was joined by his opponent, Gary Del Re. Fagan's measured, decisive tone stood in stark contrast to Del Re's defensive rambling. Fagan has the experience, vision and determination to improve the Lake County Sheriff's Office. Del Re has no plan for the future, other than to continue with the same failed policies that have demoralized the office and left our communities feeling less safe in a more dangerous world.

*William C. Zickovich
Zion*

Stands up

I have known County Board candidate Pam Kerpec (21st District) for nearly 10 years and was pleased to see her seek the post being vacated by retiring board member Martha Marks. The voters and citizens of this area could not pick a more qualified and experienced candidate than Pam Kerpec.

I especially admire the way she stands up to home builders, big business lawyers and other pressure groups who frequently focus on short term profit maximization and do not always seem to have the best interests of the citizens in mind. I like the courage and intelligence she displayed when she stood her ground and voted against the building of another environmentally harmful and dangerous peaker plant, which wasn't necessary in the first place and then saw through the smoke and mirrors and voted against building of an environmentally dangerous sludge plant, both to be located in a huge population center in Lake County. Furthermore, I applauded her vote last month to change the zoning in the area of a long abandoned industrial site in Lake County to pave the way for a long term plan of revitalization and beautification near the lake shore. It is surely a plan that has been long overdue.

Are we protecting our kids right out of their success?

Hi Everybody, I heard something in my office this week that was just "itching" to be a column so, instead of answering a question this week, I will comment on what I believe is a very important thing.

Let me first set up the situation: I had a mom tell me that she was very concerned about why her child wasn't doing well in school. Keep in mind that this kid did my program and his skills were more than adequate! She mentioned that each time he was asked to do his homework at home, he would either pout or cry or get angry until he either got out of it or his mom and dad helped him do it. I logically told this mom that if she continued to let this child's emotional outbursts get him out of homework, or bring her near-by, the behavior would continue and nothing would ever improve. I was flabbergasted at her response, but after thinking about it, I noticed that I have seen a lot of other examples of it in our society. She told me that she couldn't bear to see her child struggle and that she would do anything to stop his struggle. While I can appreciate her feelings as a mother, I immediately responded back to her that the struggle is what creates the growth and the learning and the character. The struggle is the gold. It is where the essence of appreciation comes from (have you ever met someone who never had to struggle for anything in their lives—they are pretty scary people.) It is also something imperative for all parents to allow their kids to do in their safe presence so they don't have to do it for the first time out in the world by themselves.

Now, for those of you who think I am a nasty person, cool your jets while I explain! Optimum struggle is the absolute key to achieving greatness. There is not one famous person who I can think of who didn't have to go through some struggle to get to the top. In fact, I heard about a recent study of the top

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

10 richest people in the world. They asked these people about their past educational and work experiences. Each one of them reported being fired from many jobs prior to reaching the thing they were great at. Each one of them reported past failures. Some of them reported not doing extraordinarily well in school. I am not trying to align riches with success, however, I am hoping you understand that out of struggle for success arises the real power and the strong human being inside each one of us! I also had to work extraordinarily hard to get where I am today too. I had my share of failures. Each one led to something else that was wonderful. The struggle was the very thing that made me as strong as I am now, and I am pretty strong!

We seem to have a fear of struggle and a fear of failure in our society. I see this manifesting itself primarily with kids and school performance. We will run circles around kids to protect them from their weaknesses. We contrive situations to make them feel just as successful as anyone else without the same level of effort. Specifically, recently, I have seen many examples of lowering standards to make things easier on kids. I have seen grades done away with so no one gets their self-esteem hurt when they don't do well. If you don't measure anything, I guess you cannot tell how poorly you are doing. I have seen kids who are distractible being put into perfectly contrived situations so that there is nothing to be distracted by. I have seen parents do homework for kids or let kids not do homework because it is causing the child some stress. This is the absolute wrong thing to do to these kids.

We do not live in a stress free world. We do not live in a world with no standards. The adult world and the work world have plenty of standards and we all know how harsh it can be. Why are we handling these kids with "kid gloves" when we should be training them to handle what they need to be successful. In the program I run, everyday, I see examples of kids who have been told they cannot do more than what they are doing. Kids who have had the standards changed for them. Kids whose parents don't want to watch them struggle so they just allow them to not do the work or be responsible for themselves. This is just so wrong. These kids can do it when given the right kind of mindset!

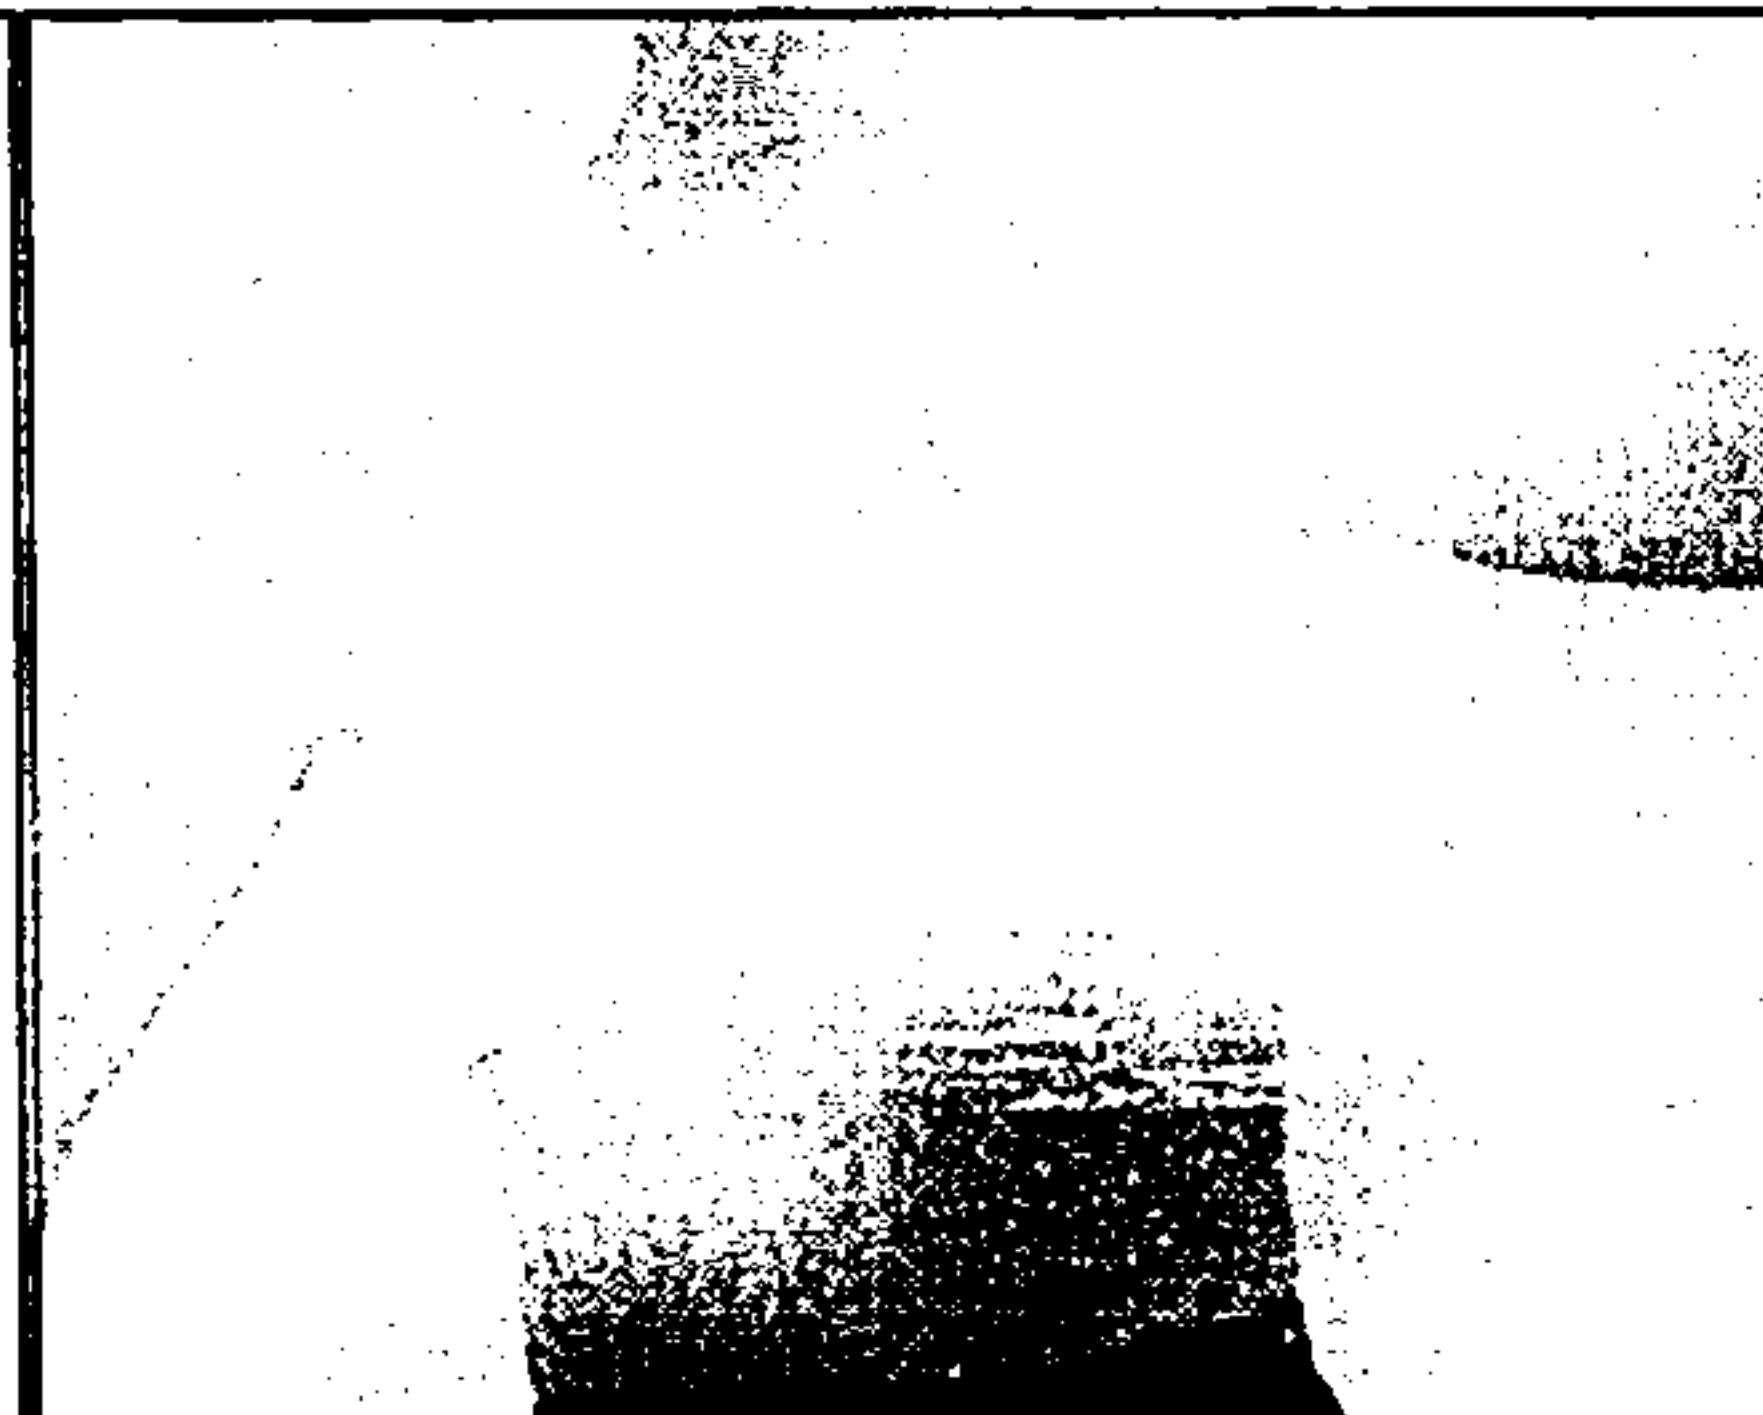

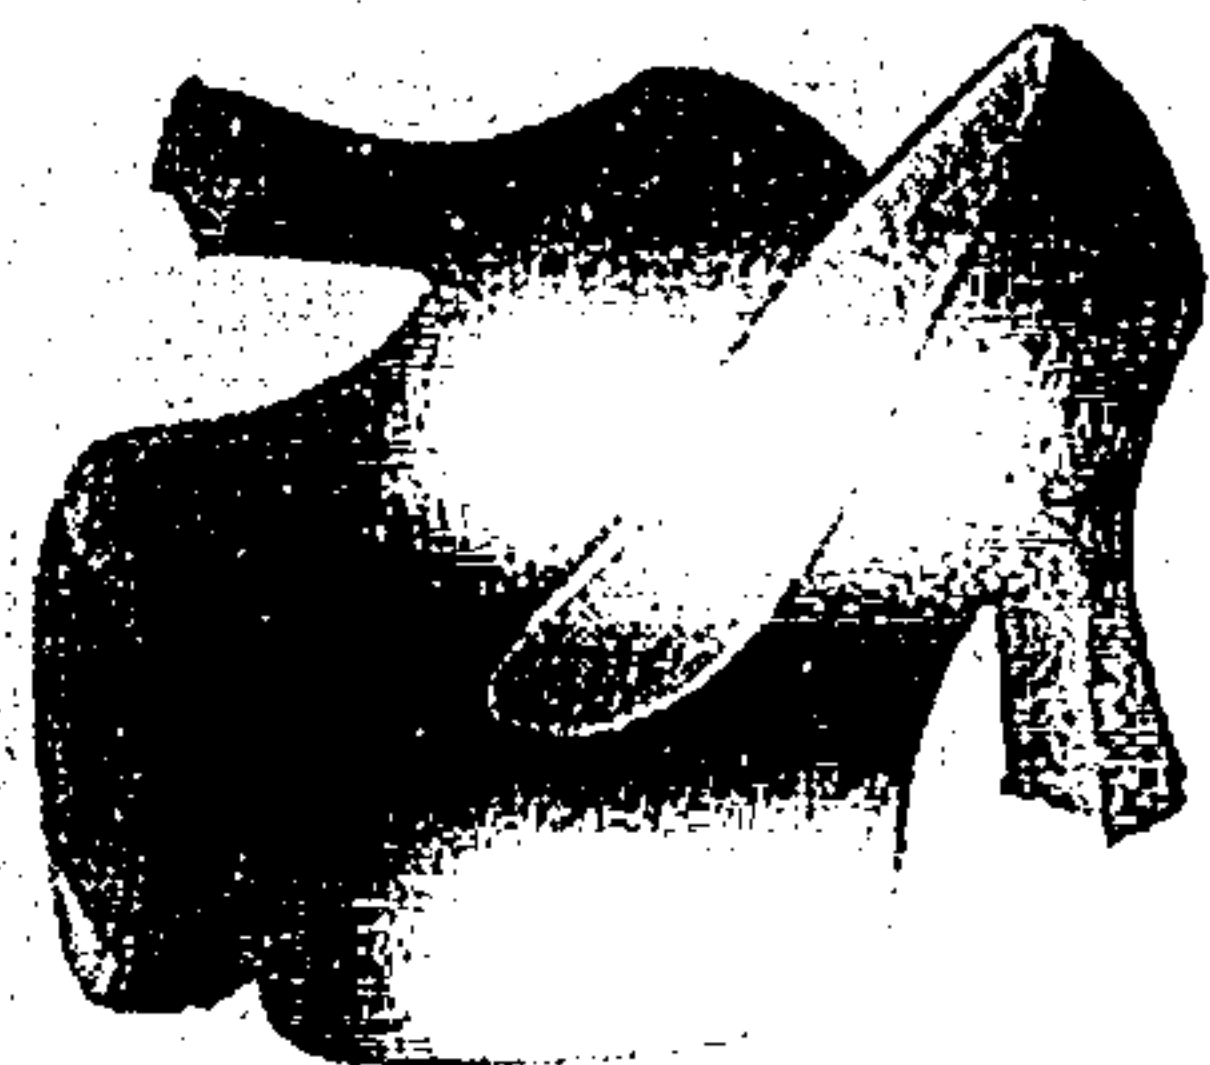

Now, do not assume here that I am saying that we should load kids up with things that are way above them or way too hard for them. I am saying that we should not design everything to be easy enough for them to handle without any struggle. The optimum place for a child to be operating is at a level of medium struggle. Just at the place where they have to work to get to the answer, but not be totally overwhelmed. If that means that we break things down into smaller parts and then build it back up into the whole, that's what it means. But taking it away and giving a much easier thing to do or to say so we don't have to see the child upset, ever, is just plain unrealistic.

Another thing that can happen from this is that kids can develop a bad habit around being asked to work. If their modus operandi is to cry or get angry when they are presented with work, and that has worked to get them out of it in the past, they will continue to use it even if the work isn't that hard for them anymore. That is a common thing I see with kids who see me. They have some processing issues to begin with, but somewhere along the way, someone has decided to lighten their load when they get upset, so now they get upset for any work at all. Does it mean that their processing is getting worse? No way! It means that the behavior worked before and they are just using it again.

I was very saddened to hear this mom say this, but I felt good that at least I could say this to her and to you. Challenge your kids! Don't ever let them get out of work because of tears or anger. Help them learn how to break something down into smaller parts so it isn't as scary. If you feel there is a processing issue or behavior issue going on, call me and we can get that out of the way. You see, it is best to fix what needs fixing and let the child be responsible for himself or herself as much as possible in his or her life. Making things easier or letting a child not do something because it is hard, is creating a very sad and dangerous path for that child. I want to make sure all of your kids do not go down that path!

Antibody may be risk factor

Young women with a self-attacking antibody may have an increased stroke risk, according to the first study of its kind published in the October issue of Stroke: Journal of the American Heart Association.

Antiphospholipid antibodies are autoantibodies—rather than fighting a foreign infectious source they're directed against the body's own tissues. They increase the chances of blood clotting, a cause of ischemic stroke.

"Our findings support a modest association between antiphospholipid antibodies (aPL) and stroke in young women. Along with other studies, this suggests that aPL may affect stroke risk across age range and in both genders," says lead author Robin L. Brey, M.D., professor of medicine, division of neurology at University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

Researchers examined stored, frozen blood samples from participants in the Stroke in Young Women study. Participants were ages 15 to 44. Researchers examined the blood from 160 women treated for stroke and 340 women with no history of stroke, to detect two kinds of antiphospholipid antibodies. Researchers used several different kinds of laboratory tests. One measured the amount of antibody in the patient's blood and the other measured the effect of the antibody in blood-clot formation.

After considering the presence of other major risk factors for stroke, researchers found that women with antiphospholipid antibodies were 1.87 times more likely to have a stroke.

An accompanying editorial by Stanley Tuhim, M.D. and Steven R. Levine, M.D., notes that several key questions remain about the role of these antibodies and current data suggest a possible association with stroke risk.

Mundelein to host sectionals

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

For tennis enthusiasts, Mundelein High School will be the place to be this weekend as teams vie for the top-4 team slots to the state meet the following week.

Mundelein hosts the sectional Oct. 18 and 19, with many North Suburban Conference powers on hand.

"There are a lot of good players that will be there that may not get to advance to state because of the depth of talent. Lake Forest is returning state champions, and Libertyville (NSC tourney winners) and Carmel won their conference. Stevenson and Deerfield have tough teams," said MHS coach Perry Wilhelm.

MHS did well in the doubles portion of the NSC conference meet last weekend. The Mustangs picked up points with a second-place finish in the No. 3 doubles with juniors Andrea Clark and Catrina Senour. Olga Goldberg and Lauren Hulse, a senior and a junior, respectively, took third at No. 2 doubles. Senior Jessica Scarim and junior Ana Antonetti took third at No. 1 doubles.

The Clark and Senour win included an upset of Libertyville's Kristen Pfund and Beth Wunderlich in the second round. "They had lost to them earlier in a tiebreak, so they were motivated and played well," Wilhelm said.

Freshman Andrea Scarim did well, winning two matches for points at No. 1 singles. As a team, Mundelein was fifth overall, with 16.5 points, one point out of fourth.

"Andrea won on the front of the tournament and the back. She has played first singles all year, and that asks a lot from a freshman, with all the talent in the area," Wilhelm said.

As far as area teams are concerned, it was Libertyville's day to shine. Coach Dave Lapish's crew could only not conquer Lake Forest, as the Wildcats were second with 25.5 points. The defending state champs Scouts won the tourney with 40 points.

Freshman Susan Kintzel, the second seed, advanced to the finals at No. 1 singles for LHS, where she lost to No. 1 seed, senior Alex Prousis 6-1, 6-1.

Sarah Heupel, a junior, made it to the finals at No. 2 singles, where the Wildcat had the same fate, but not before a spirited semifinal match win over Kadie Leibovitz of Stevenson in three sets. Chelsea Nusslick, a junior, took the title in a 6-1, 6-0 win.

At first doubles, Blanca Barr and Amanda Leibold took Lake Forest's Christian Tara and Kendell Murphy to a 7-5 set before losing in straight sets.

The trend continued at No. 2 doubles, where Erin Oldenberg and Kristine Lewry won twice over Vernon Hills and Stevenson before losing to Lake Forest's talented sophomores Whitney Block and Briana Kearney 6-4, 6-3 in the finals.

Vernon Hills' No. 3 doubles team of Erin Chiou and Monika McWillie took fourth place.

Corsairs netters are ESCC champs

By WESLEY WARD
Correspondent

Carmel's athletic program has produced a number of success stories in 2002. But many may have overlooked the performance of the girls varsity tennis program.

The Lady Corsairs fashioned a 17-2 regular season record en route to a East Suburban Catholic Conference Championship. Going into the ESCC championships, Carmel was the favorite after finishing conference play 8-0. Carmel did not disappoint, winning the conference tournament with 51 points, eight ahead of runner-up Fenwick (43).

"I am very pleased with the girls," said head coach Nancy Fein. "They were determined to win the conference. The girls put in the hard work necessary to do so."

Carmel won five medals on their way to the title. Pauline Donovan won 6-0, 6-0 in the second singles title match against Benet. At No. 1 singles, Christina Minor finished second after a hard fought match against St. Viator.

In doubles action, the No. 1 pair of Jesse Wind and Christina Sloff defeated St. Viator's team to take first placed honors. Catherine Grachek and Katie Donovan also placed for Carmel, finishing second after a loss to Fenwick in the finals. The No. 3 doubles team of Amanda Wares and Erin Lathom finished third to complete the action.

"We had a very strong group this year and we were deep," said Fein. "We were winning at the top and at the bottom and to be successful that is important. This was a total team effort. The girls were rooting for one another and support is at an all-time high."

With two freshmen playing at first and second singles, Carmel has youth. But what it lacks in age it makes up for in experience. Both freshmen, Pauline Donovan and Minor are very experienced tennis players.

"Our freshmen are tournament tennis players," said Fein. "They play in the off-season and the tournaments have helped them prepare for the high school season."

Carmel looks forward to the Mundelein sectional Oct. 19 beginning at 8 a.m. The girls will have their work cut off with a draw that could potentially pit them against powerhouses Lake Forest, Libertyville or Stevenson. "I think we have an outside chance of making state," explained Fein. "It will be tough as only four singles and four doubles pairs make it. If the girls play their best then we will finish respectably."

"I am very pleased with the girls. They were determined to win the conference. The girls put in the hard work necessary to do so"

Corsair football earns first-ever conference crown

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Correspondent

It's turning out to be another banner year for Carmel football.

The Corsairs clinched their third straight playoff berth well, a while ago. But with its 28-14 win over Benet Academy, the program achieved something never done by a Carmel football team in 36 years of existence: winning a conference championship.

Carmel (7-0, 5-0) clinched at least a share of the Catholic Metro White Conference title after their victory over the Red Wings. If they win their final conference game in two weeks against Marian Catholic, the Corsairs win the conference outright.

"It's just a rush right now," quarterback Mark Venegoni said. "Being the first conference title makes it special. But it all comes from these coaches. Some of them have been at this school for a long time."

But Venegoni contends there's still much more work to be done. The Corsairs face a tough St. Rita opponent Oct. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in Mundelein.

"This is going to be a big week of preparation because St. Rita is really tough," Venegoni said.

The Corsairs jumped out to an early 14-0 lead, scoring on their first two possessions. Brandon Ziemann (11 carries, 54 yards) took it from one yard out on Carmel's first possession, giving the Corsairs an early 7-0 lead.

On Carmel's second possession, Josh Robinson (8 carries, 52 yards) took a pitch from Venegoni and ran it in from 13 yards.

Benet cut the Corsair lead to 14-7 at half-time when sophomore quarterback Dan LeFevour found Phil Goforth, who made a leaping grab over cornerback Dexter Reid Jr.

A Venegoni touchdown pass to Jack Simmons put Carmel up 21-7 in the third quarter.

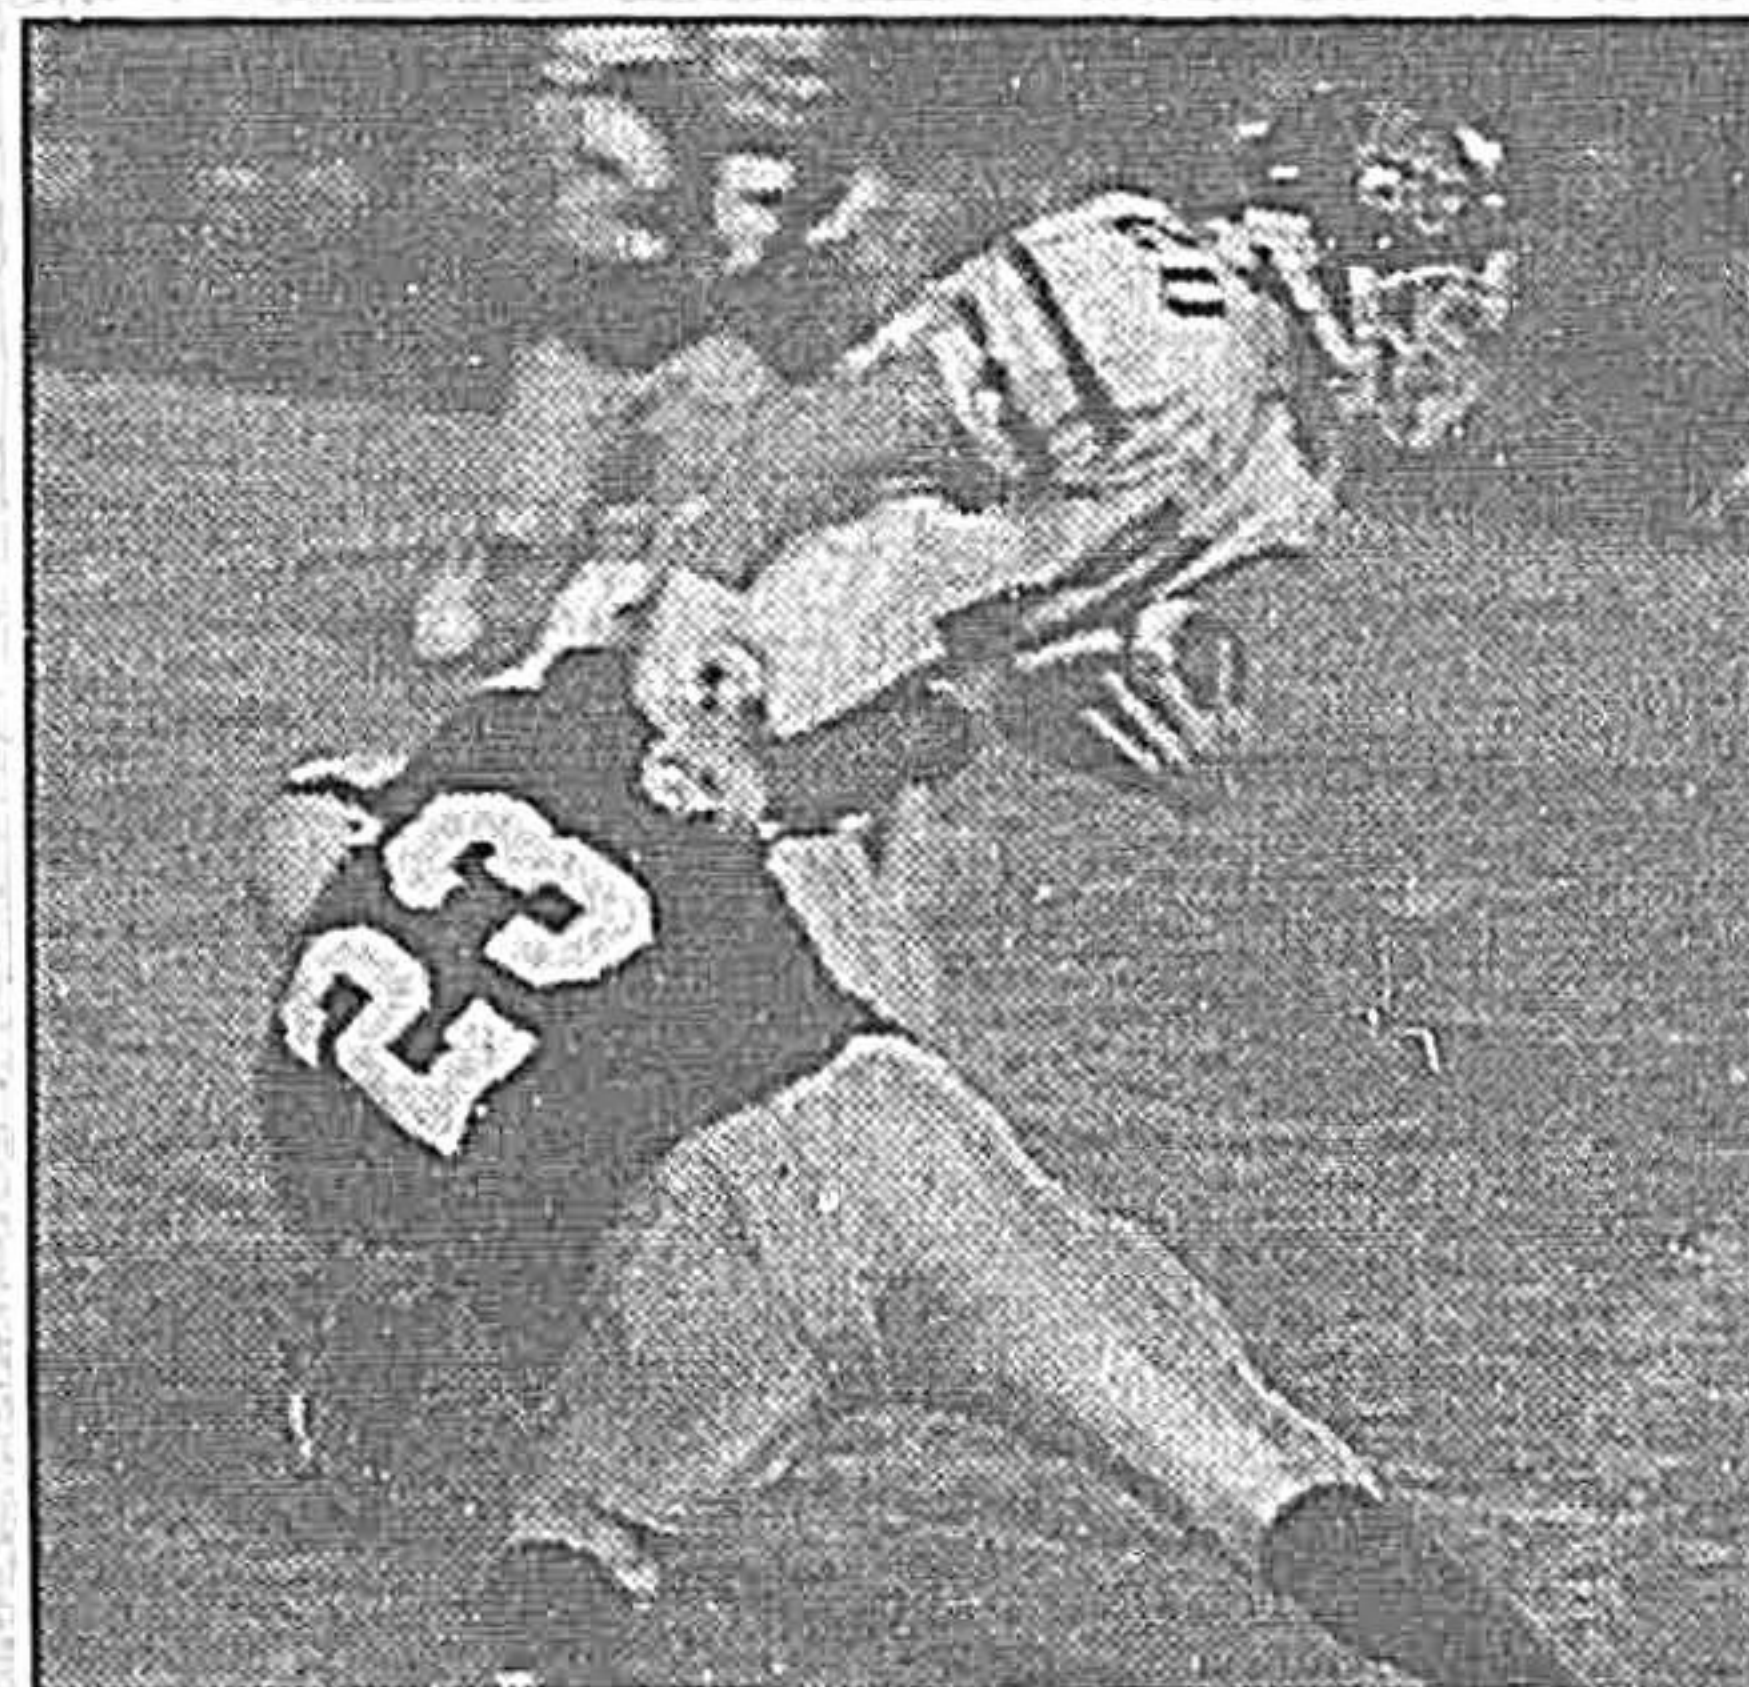

Benet threatened early in the fourth quarter to cut the Carmel lead to only a touchdown. On 4th-and-9 from the Carmel 19, LeFevour found Goforth for what looked like an apparent first down. But defensive back Pat Lynch stopped Goforth just short of the marker.

"He (Goforth) ran the route short and we got lucky because if we hadn't made the tackle he would have spun around and got the first down," Carmel head coach Andy Bitto said. "But we have to improve on our pass rush."

Later in the quarter, Matt Orscheln fumbled a punt return, giving Benet the ball at the Carmel 40. Two plays later, Orscheln made up for the fumble by intercepting a LeFevour pass while trying to elude a sack by linebacker Jeff Wulf.

A 1-yard touchdown run by Venegoni with 4:38 left put the game out of reach. The score was set up by a 58-yard touchdown run by running back Jon Popovitch. Popovitch replaced Ziemann in the second quarter after the senior running back suffered a knee injury. He was scheduled for an MRI earlier in the week. Popovitch, a junior, filled in nicely. He dashed for 89 yards on 13 carries.

Tips for creating a safer home

How securely attached are the screens in your windows? Would they stop a playful puppy from tumbling out ... or an intruder from getting into your home?

Does your family regularly practice how to handle emergencies, such as stove fires, sudden violent storms or burst pipes? Would your children know how to unlock a window and escape from a fire?

When you have a family, there's a lot to think about. Building a safe, secure home is one of the top priorities for all parents. From selecting reliable products during the construction of a home to monitoring children at play, creating a safe environment is an ongoing task for parents.

If you think that windows are just the pieces of glass that allow light and air to flow in and out of your home, think again. Have you ever researched the best styles of windows to have in a home with small children? Do you know what type of glass you should have in windows to help prevent noise penetration and discourage intruders? Are your utility bills soaring because your current windows lack energy efficiency features?

Knowing your windows means knowing how to create a safer home for your family. Take this fast and easy window test to learn how safe your home is:

Question #1 -- When was the last time your entire family held a practice nighttime fire drill in your home?

Answer -- Experts recommend practicing safety drills regularly -- at least twice a year -- and in the dark, without the aid of electricity that may fail in a fire. Small children tend to "hide" from fire, so make sure your children are familiar with escape routes, have flashlights near their beds and know how to move quickly out of the home. Also, establish a meeting location away from the house to assure that family members can be accounted for after exiting the home.

Question #2 -- How much do you allow windows to be opened to increase air flow in your home?

Answer -- While gaining ventilation is important in the home, so is safety. If you have pets or small children, realize that window screens are intended just to keep insects outside, not to hold children inside. Screens will not support the weight of a child or frisky pet.

For added safety in your home, consider opening just the top sash of a double hung window for ventilation. Or, install windows, such as those from Simonton, that offer ventilation locks that allow the window to be partially opened for fresh air while remaining securely locked.

Question #3 -- During the holidays, do you staple decorations or lights to the inside of your windows, have candles lit in the windows or use spray foam "snow" on the windows?

Answer -- Windows are not constructed to serve as "hitching posts" for holiday decorations. Anytime you nail or staple into them -- or attach decorative accessories directly to the glass -- you're compromising the structure and safety of the unit itself. Melted wax on window frames can damage the sills and seep into the frame, making it difficult to open. Lights attached to the frame serve as a safety hazard, both from an electrical standpoint and by hampering egress from the home. Want to play it safe? Decorate around windows during the holidays, not on them.

Second lawsuit filed against Del Re alleging fishy towing policies

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

A Fox Lake marina owner is denying a lawsuit filed against Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re for allegedly ignoring towing business is politically motivated.

"To my surprise, I have been stopped and congratulated by many people saying that it is good that someone stood up to the Sheriff's Department," Jakstas said. "I met with Bonnie Thomson Carter of the Lake County Board more than one and one-half years ago to try and work this out. I did not want to sue the county, but the Sheriff's Department has blackballed me. Six months ago, I reminded Carter about the situation, and later, but she did not do anything," Jakstas said.

Carter said: "I don't recall talking to Pete to try and set up a meeting with the Sheriff's Department. It is not an issue that the Law and Judicial Committee, nor the county board, would get involved in."

Jakstas filed the civil suit in Federal Court. He is seeking $600,000 in damages. Attorney Richard Grossman represents Jakstas' lawsuit. Grossman said the defendant has 20 days to respond to the lawsuit, expected to be served this week. Of the funds sought, $150,000 are for compensation, $450,000 for punitive in nature.

"After Sheriff Del Re was re-elected in 1998, Mineola Marine received fewer and fewer calls for tows. I attended a fund-raiser for Willie Smith (Del Re's opposition in the last primary) and Del Re had people there taking names. Inquiring into the situation, Jakstas was informed by one of the Sheriff's campaign, managers, Thomas Crichton, that the towing had stopped because of Jakstas' political support to the opposition. Crichton offered to take a substantial campaign contribution back to Sheriff Del Re and get Mineola back on the approved list of boat towing companies, the suit contends.

Jakstas is supporting another Del Re opponent, Democrat Charles "Chuck" Fagan in the Nov. 5 election.

For most of the 49 years in business, Mineola Marine received up to 85 percent of referrals from Lake County Sheriff's Department. For $50,000 per year in revenue.

Jakstas stated that he has done business on the Chain O' Lakes for 49 years out of Mineola Marina. His firm has the best knowledge and equipment for towing of boats. He recalled one incident when an "approved" boat towing firm could not handle the situation and he was called. "Boat owners have been told to, 'take what we give you'," Jakstas said.

Mineola Marine has a fleet of three towing craft for use on the Chain O' Lakes, and is, "the largest, oldest and best-equipped marine repair shop and service center in Lake County," the lawsuit states. The complaint, filed at Northern District of Illinois, east division, seeks a declaratory injunction and relief since the defendant's alleged actions, "interfere with the plaintiff's prospective economic advantage."

Carter, Lake County Board member who represents the Chain O' Lakes area, agrees with that contention.

The suit says the reduction in calls for Mineola Marine started in 1999. In the 2000 boating season, Jakstas received no referrals from the Lake County Sheriff's office.

This is the second such lawsuit filed against Del Re's towing policies.

Land purchase provides route for Des Plaines River Trail

Lake County Forest Preserves approved purchase of a 1.5-acre parcel along the Des Plaines River Trail in Vernon Township for $200,706.

The new purchase marks the 22nd acquisition and increases the total of Forest Preserves in Lake County to 24,340 acres.

Des Plaines River Purchase

The 1.5-acre trail corridor parcel is located on the west side of the river across from the Ryerson Conservation Area and is part of the planned extension of the Des Plaines River Trail. It is part of an effort undertaken by the Forest Preserve District in 1997 to acquire 15 parcels, ranging in size from 0.1 to 3.7 acres to provide a route for the Des Plaines River Trail. So far, all but two of the parcels have been secured for the trail.

The purchase provides a route for the planned Greenway and extends the southern section of the Des Plaines River Trail, the backbone of a planned countywide network of over 100 miles of regional trails. The 7,727-acre DPR Greenway, a band of Forest Preserves that stretches from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line to Cook County, preserves 88 percent of the rivers' banks and currently includes 29 miles of the planned 33-mile multi-purpose DPR Trail.

LAKE COUNTY DIGEST

Abbott acclaimed

Working Mother magazine has named Abbott Laboratories one of the 10 best employers for mothers. The magazine also ranked Abbott first among companies in the pharmaceutical and technology industry. This is the second consecutive year Abbott has appeared on Working Mother magazine's prestigious annual list of "100 Best Companies for Working Mothers," a demonstration of its continued commitment to providing employees with the resources needed to maintain successful work/life integration.

Vista accreditation

Vista Health's Saint Therese Medical Center and the Victory Memorial Hospital Laboratory received accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO) after on-site surveys were conducted. The separate surveys found both to be in compliance with the Joint Commission's nationally recognized health care standards. Saint Therese Medical Center earned a score of 92 percent and Victory Memorial Hospital Laboratory earned a score of 98 percent.

Seniors get free pet vaccinations

Senior citizens are often challenged by the costs of keeping their pets healthy. The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center has a solution. It will offer free rabies vaccination clinics for the pets of senior citizens every Thursday, from 9:30-10:30 a.m., at its Animal Control Facility, 29278 N. Highway 83 in unincorporated Mundelein. Senior citizens who are 55 years of age or older are invited to bring their cats or dogs. In addition to rabies shots, distemper shots and microchips will be available at a nominal cost.

To avoid unnecessary waiting, seniors are asked to call 847-949-9925 in advance of their visit. All animals brought to the clinic should be at least four months old. Dogs must be leashed and cats placed in carriers.

Help Big Brothers/Big Sisters

In partnership with 17 different Lake

County elementary schools, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Lake County provides an after school mentoring program to 450 children each week. These schools are in North Chicago, Waukegan, Diamond Lake, Mundelein, Gurnee, Libertyville, Beach Park, Round Lake and Round Lake Beach. 350 of these children are matched one to one with high school students from 9 different Lake County schools.

During September both mentors and children will be enrolling in the program at their local schools. At the same time Big Brothers Big Sisters is stocking its shelves with snacks, games, books and arts and crafts supplies for the program this year. Each week each child receives a snack. The other items are used for match activities each week.

Big Brothers Big Sisters is asking for the Lake County community to help with this in two ways. Monetary donations will be used to purchase snacks and arts and craft supplies. Donations of quality children's books and games are also needed. Donations can be sent to or dropped off at Big Brothers Big Sisters of Lake County at 3701-G Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031. Call 847-360-0770 with questions about this program or visit its web site at www.bbb-slc.org

Dept. of Education Grant to CLC

During a tour of the college of Lake County facilities in Grayslake, U.S. Rep. Mark Kirk (R-Wilmette) announced the award of a $187,147 U.S. Dept. of Education grant to fund the Talent Search Program at the college. The goal of this federally funded program is to identify and assist young people from disadvantaged backgrounds to complete high school and pursue a college education at the institution of their choice.

Students enrolled in the Talent Search Program learn the education requirements for their career goals, and the program offers a full portfolio of academic support services. Tutoring and mentoring, help in developing study skills, and a parental involvement program are offered. As students get ready to make college choices, the program also includes advice on financial aid and the college application process, as well as visits to colleges.

Lake Zurich High School reunion this weekend

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Thirty years ago in 1972 the Lake Zurich Bears won first place in basketball in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Led by point Guard John Zarr, now head basketball coach at Lake Zurich, Gary Wendtland, Kevin Kane, Roger Smeele, Don Hughes, Curt Franzen and coach Ray Tonelli, the Bears were awesome to watch.

Even more fun to watch were cheerleaders Debbie Rak, Sandy Smith, Gail Hoes, Jane Morgan and Peggy Harloff.

Some of the pom-pom squad included Nancy Olsen and Jane Salinas, both members of the National Honor Society.

Now this group and the rest of the student body will be holding its 30-year reunion in Hackneys in Lake Zurich on Oct. 19 beginning at 6:30.

All students from the class of 1972 are invited to attend.

Resolve Employment Disputes Without Lawsuits
By Scott T. Fleischmann

Several years ago, I interviewed a candidate who told me that he had sued his last four employers. As a logical and reasonable human being, I had to ask myself why I would want to hire this person. I neither had the urge to be sued myself nor did I want the company that I worked for to be sued. Hopefully he got a job with another company.

In our litigious society it seems that everyone is suing someone for something. You may have guessed my bias about this tendency is that most lawsuits are nonproductive and superfluous. Since my background is employment, let me state that it very seldom pays to sue an employer.

Yes we hear about the famous lawsuits that have been won. But for every BIG WINNER there are thousands of losers and winners of amounts that just barely cover the legal fees that have been paid.

So, why are people so willing to sue their employers? Because we are told that we should. Special interest groups have convinced us that the only logical way to handle a mistreatment is to sue for damages. Au contraire. The only ones who benefit in most lawsuits are the lawyers.

Let's look at the various options. Certainly suing is one option. The danger, however, is that one may eventually be in a position of the candidate that I interviewed. In most cases, the anxiety and stress of a lawsuit is not worth the results that are ultimately realized.

Another option is to realize that life is not fair. People are not fair. Many companies are not fair. Therefore, those of us who are not treated fairly should not have expected anything more. Once one realizes this truth it is easier to see other options.

Firstly, any worker that feels unfairly treated can communicate that feeling openly and honestly. It is always best to talk with the manager to whom you report first. Most good managers appreciate such candor, as long as it is presented with gentleness and respect. Any anger or resentment will be immediately visible to the manager.

However, it is good to remember that "fairness" is a relative term. A manager may not see a given situation the same as an employee. Therefore, enter any such conversation with an open mind. Good managers will. If this conversation brings no satisfaction the human resources department or a higher manager may help. In fact, if a lawsuit becomes necessary, this may be seen as a step the employee initiated to resolve the problem.

Another possibility is to seek input from those who are neutral. Friends, family, a pastor or even an employment counselor can help to balance one's perspective.

Finally, if all else fails, finding a new job where one will be treated more fairly is always an option. Every organization has a different culture. While some may appreciate a given employee's unique skills and experience, other won't. Every employee needs to find the employer where he or she is most appreciated.

Laws to protect those who are mistreated on the job are good. However, the big settlements that we occasionally read about are the exceptions not the rule. Most who take on a large organization are not successful. Unless the case is solid, there may be better options.

Scott T. Fleischmann is the Managing Principal for Integrity Business Solutions Inc., a full service management consulting firm. He can be contacted through e-mail at ibs.scott@juno.com or through the company web site at www.aboutintegrity.net.

Leads the way in results and great customer service!

To whom it may concern,

Recently, I placed an ad for a sleeping room in the Pioneer Press, Copley Newspapers and the Lakeland Newspapers. Lisa at extension 191 was exceptional. She expedited my request with exceptional speed, enthusiasm and courtesy. I wish that all employees at local newspapers were as friendly and efficient. When I have ad needs, I will definitely use your company in the future.

Thank you,

Come Celebrate 40 Years of St. Jude!

FASHION SHOW EXTRAVAGANZA

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 3

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital
ALFAC • Drury Thomas, Founder

If you have children, know children, or ever were a child, help support the miracle of life at the 8th annual

Happy Birthday St. Jude - 40 Years Young

Dream A Little Dream
fashion show benefiting
St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

On Sunday, November 3rd, over 700 guests will join together at the Drury Lane in Oakbrook Terrace to celebrate the 40-year anniversary of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, the premier research and treatment center for children with catastrophic diseases.

They will view contemporary fashions by Zazz Productions, furs by York Furriers, and jewelry by Razny Jewelers. Regular and grand raffle viewing begins at 11am, followed by the luncheon, fashions and special surprises including well-known US99 radio celebrity "Wild Bill Garcia" as Master of Ceremonies. This year, a silent auction will also be held.

Official sponsors for this event include Rezko Enterprises and Shaker Recruitment Advertising & Communications, and generous contributors include A Shear Encounter Salon & Spa, Automatic Ice, Mico Designs, The Phoenixian Club of Chicago, and many others.

Located in Memphis, Tennessee, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has treated more than 19,000 children from across the United States and 60 foreign countries without regard to race, religion or ability to pay. The late entertainer, Danny Thomas, founded the hospital in 1962, with the mission that "no child should die in the dawn of life." As the hospital celebrates its 40th anniversary, physicians and researchers are coming closer to making Danny's dream a reality.

Tickets are $60 each, and tables of ten are discounted at $500. Drury Lane is located at 100 Drury Lane in Oakbrook Terrace. Call the Midwest Regional St. Jude Office for tickets: 773-784-6704.
